All Merchants Will Cooperate to Show Public Newest Merchandise; To Select Corps of Judges for Windows

Public to Have Three Days in Which to View Decorated Windows in City

An opportunity for the public to judge the windows of Kingston's merchants at the annual Fall Opening Display was voted this morning by the Kingston Business Men's Association. Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded the persons writing the best essays of not more than 25 words telling why they selected the particular window as a prize winner.

The annual Fall Opening Display will be held this year on Thursday, September 22, when all merchants will cooperate to show the public what is newest in fall styles and fall merchandise. The Fall Opening will be held during the National Retail Display week which will be held throughout the nation during the week of September 19.

Committee Is Busy
Additional details for the judging of the windows will be worked out by a committee appointed this morning by President James Rowe of the Kingston Business Men's Association. In the past it has been the policy to award prizes to the three best appearing windows, the judging being done by a corps of judges. This year the windows will be judged by the public and the prizes will be awarded to the persons who selected the best essays on why they selected the windows. While the official Fall Opening will be held on Thursday, September 22, the display windows will remain intact Thursday, Friday and Saturday so that the public may have three days to examine the displays and participate in the prize winning contest.

Public to Vote
Coupons upon which the public may submit their choice of first, second and third prize, will be available and the prizes will be awarded to the persons who write the best essays telling why they selected the particular window and which receive first, second and third highest number of votes.

After reviewing the windows the public is requested to select their choice for first, second and third awards, voting by coupon and accompanying their vote with the required essays. Judges will determine which displays receive the greater number of votes and then the prizes will be awarded to the persons who submit the best reasons why they made their selections.

Picnic Report
Besides discussing the Fall Opening a report was made on the Merchants' Picnic and Outing which was held at Williams Lake. Sam Bernstein reported the affair one of the greatest successes and a vote of thanks was given Al Finnegan for the work which he did in connection with the affair. President Rowe reported the picnic one of the "grandest things which was ever pulled off" and said the outing had been of great aid in gaining good will from the clerks and the general public.

The matter of complaints regarding the John street parking grounds was discussed. It was suggested that in order to leave the front spaces for customers with parcels to carry that clerks park cars at the rear of the lot. The matter of all night parking in the parking grounds was discussed. Reports on "Program"
Oscar London reported on the "program" committee and a letter was read from Lynbrook, L. I., stating that the board of trades had individual program advertising by individual merchants and the matter which was handled by a committee which either endorsed or disapproved "program" advertising. Members of the board of trades who violated the rule and advertised in programs which were not sanctioned by the board were fined $25.

"Secret" Committee
The local association for some time has had under advisement some plan to eliminate the cost of such program advertisements which annually amounts to a considerable sum in each merchant's

Myron J. Michael School Where Almost 1,000 Pupils Will Enroll

Freeman Photo

Flexible Registration Plan

Opening of the new Myron J. Michael school next week will provide additional room for approximately 840 students, relieving the congestion at all eight of the grade schools of the city and also the high school which for several years has been crowded far beyond capacity. All 8-A and 8-B students from the city will be enrolled at the new school as well as the entering class, or ninth grade of the high school.

Superintendent Van Ingen with members of the Board of Education and Col. Frank L. Meagher, principal at the Myron J. Michael school, and Principal Clarence L. Dumm of the high school have worked out a plan of registration for the new school which it is anticipated will take care of all local students and incoming out of town ninth grade students. The plan however is a flexible one which may be altered as emergencies present themselves so that the greatest efficiency may be readily attained in the new building.

Teachers from the eighth grade rooms of the grade schools have been assigned to the Myron J. Michael school and the ninth grade students will have assigned to them approximately eight of the present high school teachers who will become responsible for the work in the upper grade of the new building. Designation of the teachers from the high school has not been worked out yet.

Among the teachers who will be assigned to the new school from the grade schools are: Isabelle M. Hanley, Clara Osterhout, Ruth Glendenning, Elsie J. Phillips, Mayme I. Gumaer, Edith Van Gaasbeek, Alice L. Costello.

Opening of the Myron J. Michael school will bring to the educational center of the city approximately 2,500 students who will be housed in the present high school building and the new school. The new building was designed by Teller & Halverson, architects, and built by the W. W. Kingston Co., general contractors.

It was estimated today by the office of Messrs. Teller & Halverson that construction of the building would cost about $274,000, although this figure is not final and the cost might be less.

Railroad Men Ballot On Whether to Strike

Chicago, Sept. 1 (AP)—Employees of the nation's major railroads were asked today to decide whether they should strike in protest against a 15 per cent wage cut.

Leaders of 19 rail unions ordered a nationwide strike ballot among the 929,000 workers after the collapse yesterday of efforts to mediate the wage dispute.

The national mediation board, which has been striving for a settlement since August 11, completed its role under the railway labor act by suggesting arbitration.

H. A. Enochs, chairman of the committee representing the carriers, said the carriers were willing to submit the controversy to arbitration. Union officials refused.

A strike vote was immediately ordered by the Railway Labor Executive Association, representing 18 unions, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The balloting and tabulating will take about 26 days.

4 Persons Die Today In Quebec Avalanche, 8 Killed in Floods

Quebec, Sept. 1 (Canadian Press)—A rain-loosed avalanche today destroyed a crowded four-story apartment house in a Quebec suburb, killed four persons outright, injured about 12 and, according to rescue leaders, left one boy buried in the wreckage.

Eight other deaths were caused by the same heavy rains sweeping the Quebec area. Six persons of a single family drowned when their home at Portneuf, 40 miles west of here, was carried away by the flooded Portneuf River, and two died in a washout derailment of a Montreal-Quebec passenger train.

Three physicians who took charge of rescue work after the collapse of the apartment house, at St. Gregoire de Montmorency, a textile factory town six miles east of here, said the only person not accounted for was the young son of Delphis Lachance.

The boy, whose sister's crushed body was taken from the ruins, was believed buried in the debris. Four bodies taken to St. Gregoire's morgue were those of Miss Rosa Lachance, Mrs. Patrick Delisle, Mrs. Cornthine Audet and an unidentified infant.

Only yesterday Mrs. Audet gave birth to a daughter. When her body was taken from the ruins the baby was in her arms, crying. Another baby came through the crash unhurt, the few-month-old adopted daughter of Mrs. Delisle, found near her dead foster mother.

The dozen injured were sped to Quebec by ambulances. Some were reported in critical condition. Rescue workers agreed that the four in the morgue and probably the Lachance boy were the only persons who died in the disaster.

Forty-eight persons were in the big apartment house, an eight-story, year-old, partly-brick structure, when the slide struck it at 4:15 a. m. For several hours rescuers believed at least 15 were missing, until the doctors rescued that figure to one.

Confined Two Years In Room by Parents

De Kalb, Ill., Sept. 1 (AP)—A disclosure that a young man had been confined for two years in his parents' home, much of the time in an unventilated, windowless room, prompted an investigation today by authorities.

Emaciated, clad only in dirty underwear, his hair long and matted, Vincent Redmond, 21, was discovered in the dark room by Deputy Sheriff Lymon Schree.

The deputy had gone to the far paper shack of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Redmond to serve a warrant charging them with malicious mischief in connection with a fence dispute. The county court yesterday ordered Redmond committed to the state mental hospital at Elgin.

The parents were lodged at the county jail pending a hearing on the malicious mischief charge. They refused to explain their son's confinement, Schree said.

Private Flying Problems

Washington, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics authority has established a special unit to deal with problems of private flying. Grove Webster of Hackensack, N. J., heads it. Chairman Edward J. Noble of the authority said the unit was created because the "whole question of private flying needs immediate and special attention."

Aide Says Steam On 15 Hours Before Convicts Were Found

Philadelphia, Sept. 1 (AP)—Deputy Warden Frank Craven told a "blue ribbon" coroner's jury today he "knew" that steam was on in the Philadelphia county prison's "Klondike" punishment cellblock at least 15 hours before the "baked" bodies of four convicts were found.

Craven said Lew Edwards, a prisoner in another part of the jail, told him the "Klondike" was "like an oven" the day before the deaths were discovered. Testifying on the second day of the inquest into the deaths, the deputy warden again named Guard Sergeant James Hart as responsible for turning on the blasting heat. Warden William B. Mills testified yesterday that Hart gave an "unauthorized" order which sent steam up to killing temperatures in building.

Craven said he "positively did not" instruct Hart or any guard to use steam heat as punishment

Lehman Asks State
To Lead Nation in Preventing Slumps

New York's Chief Executive
Would Have Broad Social Legislation Program
Form Basis of Ideal

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—Governor Lehman called upon New York today to lead the nation in framing a protection against recurring economic depression.

Speaking at the New York State Fair, the chief executive termed a broad program of social legislation enacted during his administration as "pioneering work" and added:

"Out of the experience of actual operation under changing conditions will come guidance for correction or improvement. Let us make fullest use of that experience to the end that nothing we can do shall be left undone to prevent or minimize future economic disaster."

"New York leads in many fields of human endeavor," the governor continued. "But leadership in the discovery of the surest protection for our citizens against the evils of economic depression will be one of our most important attainments and a patriotically helpful service to our nation."

At the same time he urged a "mutual responsibility" of government and its citizens and advocated as speedy a return to their normal relationship as possible.

"There are admittedly times of emergency when government, to discharge its full responsibility, must exceed its normal function," he asserted. "The government, however, must not lose sight of the fact that the normal relationship of government and individual should be restored as quickly as conditions will permit," he added.

He lauded the state-federal milk marketing agreement as an example of cooperation between government and industry in which he said "the government has not acted on its own initiative, but only on the initiative and with the approval of the producers themselves, expressed by an overwhelming affirmative vote."

Declaring that problems of the dairy industry had overshadowed other phases of farming, the governor urged farmers to undertake a diversified crop program and the development of marketing methods to make it effective.

Reports for Duty

Moscow, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Red army's new recruits—the class of 1917 and part of 1918—reported for duty today. The aggregate number was not revealed, but the army paper Red Star said 10,000 of them already could fly airplanes and use parachutes, having learned this during spare time, the officials said. The recruits summoned today are 20 and 21 years old.

Italians to Send Jewish Residents Since 1919 Out of Country—Europe Awaits Word From Fuehrer

Tension Eases
Europe Less Tense Today;
Anglo Press Praises U. S. Interest in Czech Crisis

(By The Associated Press)

Fascist Italy today took drastic anti-Jewish action in its new campaign "for the defense of the Italian race" while Europe's eyes, searching for omens of war or peace, turned toward Berchtesgaden, in Bavaria, and the United States.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler was at Berchtesgaden, presumably pondering two questions posed before an anxious Europe. They were: What will the outcome be when the issue between the Czechoslovak government and its Nazi-supported, autonomy-seeking Sudeten German minority reaches a showdown? If Chancellor Hitler of Germany is dissatisfied, will his decision mean war or peace?

However, confidence seemed to be returning that Europe could put the brakes to her slipping security.

Press Praises U. S.

Sections of the British press praised the United States' interest in the issue and one newspaper, the influential Yorkshire Post, predicted President Roosevelt might issue a warning to Hitler of "the dangers of seeking a violent solution."

Having completed his whirlwind inspection of German frontier defenses, the Fuehrer returned to his mountain home, thus the stage was set for two vital conversations with him. Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans, was on his way to see Hitler, his self-avowed protector, while a search still continued in Prague for a compromise between the minority and the Czechoslovak government.

Seeks Interview

Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, was said to be seeking an interview with the Fuehrer.

Hitler turned his attention to the words of speeches he is to deliver at the annual Nazi party congress at Nuremberg beginning next Monday. It was expected he might then disclose Germany's intentions.

The Italian cabinet, with Premier Mussolini presiding, decreed the expulsion of all Jews who have entered Italy since January 1, 1919. This may mean transfer of many Jews to Ethiopia, for while the decree applied to Italy proper, Libya and the Aegean Isles it did not mention Italian East Africa.

Japan returned to her offensive about the Yellow river after a long, flood-interrupted interruption. Japanese forces reoccupied strategic villages along the north bank and pushed Chinese defenders from Mengzi, in Honan province.

Three hundred miles to the south, on the Yangtze river front, Chinese declared they overcame Japanese smokecreens and artillery fire to repulse 12 day, night attacks west of Juichang, 100 miles southeast of Hankow, China's provisional capital.

The Spanish civil war was apparently was deadlocked on the Ebro river front, along the Ebro major in the northeast and in Estremadura in the southwest.

By L. L. STEVENSON

When William Fellow Morgan Jr., commissioner of markets, announced that he would issue no more licenses to peddlers of hot corn and baked sweet potatoes, he struck a blow at tradition. His decision means that vendors, who have been a part of the sidewalk life of New York even in years before Fourteenth street was away up town, will be seen no more next year. Thus will be still the cry of "A hot corn" and "Bay-kid swits" to which the ears of New Yorkers have become so accustomed. Vanished also will be the men with the upfalls over charcoal braziers and the sheetiron grids heated by charcoal fires. But Commissioner Morgan is more interested in public health than in tradition. Hence his stand that in the future the only food peddlers will be licensed to sell will be protected by wrappers or glass cases.

Hot corn vendors begin their work as early in the summer as roasting ears are available at prices which will allow them to make a profit on the customer's nickel. Fished from the tin pail, the roasting ear is drowned in melted butter, or the customer is given a dab of butter to apply to the corn himself. What happens after the customer accepts his purchase is of no concern to the vendor. Often I've suspected him of having an interest in a dry cleaning establishment or having relatives in that line. A roasting ear dripping melted butter is bound to leave souvenirs when eaten on the sidewalk. Still, thousands of New Yorkers, particularly Coney Island visitors and residents of the lower East Side, look on street sold roasting ears as a delicacy.

What baked sweet potato sellers do during the summer, I don't know. But they don't make their appearance until fall. Thus they come out with the roasted chestnut vendors who trundle their carts to corners and wait for customers, sometimes consuming part of their stock while waiting. But the baked sweet universal do most of their business on the lower East Side. In fact, I have yet to see one or a hot corn vendor either in midtown.

A long court fight followed another one issued by Commissioner Morgan, the one putting to death Paddy's Market, that line of pushcarts along Ninth avenue from Forty-second to Thirty-sixth street which had been in existence more than half a century. The pushcart men carried their battle clear to the Court of Appeals at Albany before they gave up. While the fight was going on and even after it had been lost, the peddlers continued business at their old stands, offering bargains to housewives and being content with pennies as profits.

When the death knell finally sounded, there was no mourning among the market men, though some of them had been at that same stand many years. In anticipation of final defeat, they had quietly leased a vacant lot on Thirty-ninth street just off Ninth avenue. Having wired it for electricity and spaced it off for stands, about 70 moved there. Now they are safe from eviction—so long as the $300 a month rent is paid.

Only citizens, prospective citizens or those living in the city for a year receive pushcart licenses in the future, Commissioner Morgan also announced. Persons engaged in other businesses, those on home relief or working on WPA projects will be denied licenses. And speaking of charity reminds me of a well-known comedian who maintains a private charity. He has a charge account at a small hotel where the down-and-outers he recommends are given dinner, bed and breakfast for which the comedian settles at the end of the month.

The seven graduates are serving sentences for automobile theft, larceny and petty crimes.

UNITED STATES HIT BY WAR ON CHINA

Costs Business and Labor About $25,000 an Hour.

NEW YORK.—Japan's "undeclared" war on China is already costing American business and labor approximately $25,000 per hour and may ultimately cost more, it was charged in a survey released by O. O. Gallup, secretary of the Export Managers club of New York, Inc.

This loss, which according to Mr. Gallup totaled more than $300,000,000, or about a half billion dollars per day during the first year of the war, has reflected itself 8,000 miles away in United States factories and industries, the survey asserts.

With exports from the United States to China for the first four months of this year down 32 per cent as compared with the same four months of 1937, according to department of commerce figures, the staggering costs of a war which Japan expected to end in three months have already cut that nation's trade with this country more than 13 per cent for the first four months of this year, and have brought a 50 per cent drop in exports from America to Japan during May alone, Mr. Gallup declared.

Heavy Trade Losses. But these figures, although they present a fair picture of the heavy trade losses which have resulted to the United States from Japan's "undeclared" war in China, fail to present the total picture, the survey declares.

Japan's shift from "normal" to wartime commodity imports, Mr. Gallup goes on to explain, spelled disaster to American labor in that workers productive in one type of enterprise are unable to move immediately into new industries, due to the immobility of labor.

As a result, the survey states, thousands of United States workers are jobless today as luxury and other peacetime exports continue to fall away precipitously and Japan tightens her belt to finance a war which costs $5,000,000 a day.

An even greater drop in exports to Japan is expected to follow a recent letter from the state department to American exporters which warns they should be sure they have "confirmed, irrevocable letters of credit" from Japan before exporting to that country. Otherwise, the department letter is quoted as saying, the exporters might have difficulty in getting their money because of the "increased severity" of foreign exchange restrictions imposed by Japan.

In addition, further trade barriers have resulted from Japan's "juggling" of the currencies of Manchukuo and the conquered provinces of China to the yen, which has made practically impossible all foreign trade with Japanese-occupied territories, the survey declares, pointing out that at the present time to do business in these territories, approval must be obtained from Tokyo.

Meanwhile, American investments which prior to the war were estimated at about $25,000,000, have undergone heavy depreciation, Mr. Gallup asserts. The survey explains that a large part of the American capital investment lay idle for long periods during the year when concerns were forced to abandon operations because of war activities.

"For example," states Mr. Gallup, "Americans who last December were forced to evacuate Nanking have only recently been permitted to re-enter the city to rehabilitate American industry and business."

Although no figures are available, losses due to damage to American property in China are reported by the survey to have reached a staggering total. Listed as having suffered damage from Japanese bombardments are industrial plants, hospitals, missionary buildings, cultural institutions and private homes.

In addition, the survey estimates that during the first year of the war, more than 7,000 Americans were forced to leave their homes and jobs, many returning to this country virtually penniless because of inability to liquidate property or because of bank closures and other factors. It is impossible to state this type of loss in terms of dollars, the survey declares.

In connection with potential or contingent losses, factors not considered in the survey, Mr. Gallup said: "Potential or contingent losses running into tremendous sums will become actual losses."

Units Consolidated

Rochester, N. Y. (AP)—Consolidation of activities of the Associated Trucking Industry, Inc., and the New York State Motor Truck Association has been completed here. Samuel V. Gianfani, manager of Associated, became assistant general manager of the truck association in charge of the upstate district. The Motor Truck Association is affiliated with the American Trucking Association, Inc., in Washington.

Washington (AP)—The days of the poisonous, little black widow spider may be limited in this country. Uncle Sam's entomologists have a plan to fight it with another spider which they have imported from Haiti, and which particularly likes to feed on black widow eggs. The second spider is harmless. Right now the two spiders are being watched in federal laboratories. Before the scientists turn the Haitian spider loose they want to be sure it sticks to black widows. Seems they consider the harmless spiders a real help because they eat mosquitoes and flies.

A certificate of incorporation has been granted the Senate House Association, Inc., under the provisions of the membership corporations law. Justice Harry E. Schrick has approved the certificate and consent to the filing of the certificate is given by The University of the State of New York.

The certificate states that the corporation is formed for the purpose of receiving, care of, maintenance and exhibition of antique objects from old houses and old families of Ulster county and neighboring places in the state of New York. The territory in which the corporation will operate is Ulster county and the principal office of the corporation is in the city of Kingston.

The seven directors named in the certificate are Edward Coykendall, G. D. B. Hasbrouck of Kingston; Mrs. Emily C. Chadbourne of Stone Ridge; Mrs. Hermon A. Kelley of St. Remy; Mrs. Frank Seaman of Napanoch; Virgil B. Van Wagoner and Charles W. Walton of Kingston.

Louis G. Bruhn appeared as attorney for the formation of the corporation.

Faculty Additions At Bard College

Annandale-on-Hudson, Sept. 1.—Intramural sports are to be an increasingly important feature of the work of Bard College. Dean Harold Mestre said today in announcing the appointment of John B. Parsons as director of sports at the college. Mr. Parsons holds the degree of A. M. in physical education from Teachers' College, Columbia University, and has had wide experience in coaching games and group athletics. He will have direct charge of the new intramural program at Bard.

Dean Mestre also announced the appointment of G. Thayer Richards to be associate and fellow in architecture and the fine arts, and MacEldin Trawick to be instructor and tutor in psychology. Mr. Richards is a well known younger architect, whose recent work in remodeling the entrance lobby of Eastman Hall at Massachusetts Institute of Technology has attracted wide notice. At Bard he will teach courses both in the history and practice of architecture and painting. Mr. Trawick has recently been assistant to Professor R. S. Woodworth at Columbia and to Dr. Carney Landis at the New York State Psychiatric Institute.

CONTINUE SAFETY GAINS

Labor Day presents another triple holiday and once more many people will plan long distance trips and motorists are urged to drive carefully and be assured of a safe journey and safe return. It seems hardly necessary to bring out that crowded highways demand prudent and courteous driving. Motorists planning trips over the holiday, who can conveniently do so, would do well to return to their homes Tuesday morning, thereby avoiding crowded roads.

Local motorists should be proud of their safety record this year. Deaths in Ulster county as a result of automobile accidents have been cut in two over the record of 1937. To date there have been 12 persons fatally injured as the result of motor car accidents in the county while last year up to Labor Day twice that number met death. Over the holiday week-end traffic to and from the mountain resorts will be extremely heavy and included in the traffic will be the customary poor driver and the reckless driver as well. Despite careful patrol by officers it will be impossible to keep all drivers under observation and District Attorney Murray has issued an appeal for all drivers to drive sanely in an effort to keep down the county's death list from motor vehicles.

The National Safety Council reports that for the past nine months there has been an unbroken decrease in motor vehicle fatalities for the country from the corresponding months of the previous year. The saving in lives has amounted in those nine months to 5,310. Taking the year to August 1 only, total fatalities on the roads and streets were 16,030, the lowest since 1933. This represents a saving of 4,520 lives and a reduction of twenty-two per cent in the fatality column. The record has been made in the face of one per cent increase in mileage figures for the first six months of the year.

TEN YEARS LATER

It was just ten years ago—in August 1928—that the Kellogg anti-war pact came into being. The avowed purpose of the pact was to eliminate war as a national policy. The first article reads:

"The high contracting parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective peoples that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies, and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another."

The pact was generally signed by the nations of the world but, unfortunately, in its decade of existence, it has succeeded only in eliminating the official declaration of war which was fashionable during the Horse and Buggy days, before hostilities were commenced. In order to avoid violating the pact, nations since then have wanted to go to war have simply started their invasions without a formal declaration of war. Therefore their little expeditions with bombs and machine guns have not passed as "adopting war as a national policy."

For example: In 1931, Japan invaded China and took over Manchuria, all without declaring war. Four years later Italy invaded Ethiopia and liquidated Haile Selassie without any declaration of war.

Last summer Japan invaded China again and now seems in the process of attempting to swallow the entire northern part of the country. Still there has been no declaration of war. The relations between the two countries still are officially peaceful.

The lesson seems to be that when so-called civilized nations want to fight they can always find a way to do it, just as uncivilized peoples do. Like its antithesis, love, war always seems to find a way.

FORTY HOURS IN FRANCE

American opinion is divided as to whether Premier Daladier of France can get away with his request that the forty-hour law be modified in order that workers in trades which contribute to the defense of the country may speed up production.

On the one hand are those who say that France still has an unemployment problem, and a consequent reservoir of man-power on which to draw at forty hours per week. Until that is used up, why lengthen the work week? But others maintain that there are only 350,000 unemployed in France now and almost all of them unskilled. A longer week for the skilled workers now engaged in the trades in question is the need.

The overtime pay, it seems to be agreed, is prohibitive. The solution is not in that direction. Perhaps a compromise may be reached lengthening the week, not for the same pay as now, but for about the same basic pay, leaving the present forty-hour schedule as the norm, increasing the hours for a stated period only, or for a stated increase in production.

In any case, Hitler probably will be a strong factor in deciding the matter. If he backs down in the face of the strong threat of the five nations now telling him where to get off, that will be one thing. If not—France will do whatever is necessary.

According to that report of the National Emergency Council, the South is in bad shape every way but politically. It still has most of the key positions in Washington.

From present indications, what survives of our civilization will probably live in underground burrows to avoid air bombs.

They say that if there's another general war in Europe, it will come next month. Hitler has the secret under his hat.

Father Divine's idea isn't bad at all, for times like these—getting himself private heavens here and there.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act. PREVENTING INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

It is during the last few weeks of Summer and the first few weeks of Autumn that most cases of poliomyelitis occur. In order that parents should not become too greatly alarmed, the Ontario (Canada) Department of Health placed page and half page advertisements in the newspapers of the Province advising parents about this dread ailment. I quote one.

"In view of the prevalence of 'infantile paralysis' at the present time, and in recognition of the deep concern felt by parents over the protection of their children, we are issuing the following statement concerning the nature of the disease and the question of what can be done to reduce the danger of infection.

Like measles and scarlet fever, 'infantile paralysis' is a communicable or 'catching' disease. The term 'infantile' is misleading. While it is true that the majority of cases occur among children under ten years of age (most cases from 3 to 6 years of age), it does occur, especially in rural or country districts, among older children and young adults.

The term 'paralysis' is likewise misleading as it is now known that only a small proportion of those who contract the disease actually develop paralysis.

Since the disease is not limited to infants and since paralysis does not occur in all cases, the name 'infantile paralysis' should be abandoned and the name poliomyelitis used, which means acute inflammation (itis) of the gray matter (polio) of special portions of the spinal cord which control movement of the muscles.

The disease gains entrance through nose or throat and rapid transfer of nose and throat secretions from one person to another increases the possibility of infection.

Signs and symptoms: Headache, rapid rise in temperature, irritability, drowsiness, usually vomiting, constipation, lack of appetite. Soreness in the muscles of the back and stiffness and pain in the joints and arms may occur. Later the head may be bent back on neck. When he sits up he props himself behind with extended arms supporting a tender or painful spine.

Prevention: Keep your child in your own yard. In crowded stores, street cars, motion picture theatres, where there is a large number of people, chances of possible infection are greatly increased.

Of equal importance for the protection of children is the prompt calling of a physician if the child shows any symptoms of illness described above.

The Common Cold

Are you bothered with colds three or four times a year? Have you ever stopped to consider the consequences? Send for Dr. Barton's illuminating booklet, THE COMMON COLD, No. 104, the ailment that receives so little attention yet may be as dangerous as being attacked by a hungry lion. Enclose ten cents to cover cost of service and send your request to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the name of the Kingston Daily Freeman.

William Bush of Saugerties badly hurt when struck by a hit and run driver on Albany avenue.

Death of John Setters of Murray street.

Voroshilovsk, Caucasus, U. S. S. R., (CP)—Collective farmers near here are backsliding into bourgeois ways, complains the newspaper Ordjonikidze Pravda.

Out of 300 households in the village of Druzhba, organized a collective farm, 108 hired household servants during the last year. Husbands, the paper says, neglect collective work in order to devote themselves to their individual vegetable gardens, while wives market the vegetables and let servants pluck-hits for them on the collective farm.

Port Arthur, Tex., (CP)—The federal and state governments will sponsor a course here this fall to instruct store employees how to teach "scientific buying" to the public. If the plan is a success the course will be taught in other cities. Clerks will be instructed how to answer intelligently such questions as "How can rayon be distinguished from silk?" "How to tell wool from wool-and-cotton?" "How to tell good soap from bad?"

Chapter 22

Ear To The Keyhole

I LOOKED at my watch, discovered it wanted only five minutes of ten o'clock, and made my way along the highroad and up the lane to the chalet, to find Jean-François already awaiting me.

He clambered down from the wall on which he had been perching and came to meet me. "Monsieur," he said eagerly, "I thank the saints that you are here! So much might have happened to you!"

"Well," I said, as I seated myself in turn on the wall and lit a cigarette, "quite a lot has happened to me since I saw you last, but we'll leave that for the moment. What news have you?"

"First, I made my inquiries as to this Monsieur Dunning, and, monsieur, he is no journalist!"

"I know that already," I retorted rather wearily. "Since I saw you, I've learned a lot about the gentleman; but what else, Jean-François? Surely that isn't all?"

"No," he agreed, a trifle chaffed, "there is more, monsieur, and serious news." He paused, looking at me obliquely out of his close-set eyes. "Why, monsieur," he demanded, "does Monsieur René Geiss have you?"

I shrugged. "What's his latest exhibition?"

"This," he said. "This morning I visited his villa—to collect, you understand, the cigarette-case that I prudently left there last night. I had the forethought to present myself at the service entrance, and the double forethought to bring with me a third bottle of cognac; and was therefore well received by the man. The woman, he informed me, had gone to the market. They do not suspect me, those two, for I have told them I am a student on vacation from Paris, with much money to spend but no friends."

"A useful incognito," I commented. "What did the fellow tell you?"

"Monsieur, he told me nothing, for he was harassed beyond what words can describe. He had come to call upon Mr. Geiss and had accepted an invitation to remain for lunch. My acquaintance was in despair, for at once he must commence his culinary preparations; his wife was absent and could not be recalled, and the dining-room was a disaster."

"And what did you do?" I asked curiously.

He struck himself on the chest. "Me? I revealed myself as the friend in need! I would, I said, take upon myself to arrange the matter. I armed myself with my duster, permitted him to lead me to the dining-room. I listened to his footsteps retreating to the kitchen. I crept across the hall to the door of a salon, from whence came voices. I applied my ear to the keyhole and took out my notebook!"

"I whistled in admiration for his colossal nerve."

He produced a notebook and flashed a small pocket-torch upon it. "Here, monsieur, is my transcript," said he with pardonable pride, and began to read rapidly.

A Great Joke

"IT WAS Monsieur le Juge who was speaking. René, you are sure that you are speaking the truth? Remember that not only my professional reputation, but also, perhaps, my appointment itself depends on solving this case quickly."

"I know that," came the voice of Monsieur Geiss, "but I can assure you, my dear friend, that it is no fault of mine. My information was trustworthy—Lumsden had undoubtedly hidden the gun there, but I fear that your flatfooted police chief must have given the alarm too early and allowed him time."

"That is all very well," said the judge, "but how does it assist me? Remember, René, that it is on your advice that I have discontinued inquiries regarding Monsieur Stahl and his association with the girl, concentrating, instead, on the case of Monsieur Geiss. But I can assure you, my dear friend, that it is no fault of mine. My information was trustworthy—Lumsden had undoubtedly hidden the gun there, but I fear that your flatfooted police chief must have given the alarm too early and allowed him time."

Tongues At Home

"I NEVER saw such long tongues—that is I mean for the size of your little, wee bodies," said Willy Nilly. "To see you on the rocks one would never think of you as you are."

"How would you think of us?" asked another periwinkle.

"Oh, as little, tiny, shells close against the rocks, dark and quiet, or by the sides of mossy docks or clinging across the seas, it practices patience and self-restraint. In the pursuit of governmental policies it avoids force or the threat of force."

"It agrees with us," the periwinkle answered. "Of course when you have thousands of teeth you can chew well."

"Thousands of teeth!" shouted Willy Nilly.

"Certainly," said the periwinkle. "We need thousands of teeth to chew all the seaweed that we like to eat."

"Where can you keep your teeth?" asked Willy Nilly. "You are so very small—if you don't mind my saying so."

"Not in the least," answered the periwinkle. "We keep our teeth on our tongues which are much longer than our little bodies. We keep them where we have the most room. That is sensible of us, isn't it?"

"Indeed it is," admitted Willy Nilly.

The periwinkles were all resting against one of the rocks now and Willy Nilly let his boat drift nearby.

He saw some dainty creatures not far out in the water.

"Do you mind telling me your names?" he asked.

"Jelly fish," was the answer, Willy Nilly was surprised.

While Preston Grover is on vacation, persons prominent in the official and political life of the nation and in journalism are conducting the Daybook. Today's guest column is written

By LOUIS JOHNSON

Assistant Secretary of War

WASHINGTON—In the last 14 months my duties in the War Department have carried me across every state in the Union and the territory of Alaska. I have addressed many audiences and discussed many matters pertaining to the welfare of our people with citizens in all walks of life.

I found differences of opinion on practically every subject, and unanimously only one: The American people appear unanimous in a desire for peace.

A responsible government, responsive to the will of the American people, is striving in every way to realize this universal desire of its citizens. In dealing with neighbors in America and with nations across the seas, it practices patience and self-restraint. In the pursuit of governmental policies it avoids force or the threat of force.

Respect For Man

DESPITE our example and our determination to enjoy the blessings of peace, there can be no guarantee that we will never have to take up arms in the defense of our country.

Examples of aggressive nations short on good judgment and long on mad dreams whose avaricious machinations have drawn peace-loving peoples into the martial field, and history may repeat itself.

If a holocaust again should sweep our country, we are determined to hold our human losses to a minimum.

In some countries of the world, man is held cheap. Among some peoples human beings are counted in terms of cannon fodder. In the United States, on the other hand, we have the utmost respect for human life. We in the army feel a responsibility for every soldier in our ranks. To save manpower and to minimize losses are the duties of every officer in the American army from general to second lieutenant.

Mechanized Units

WE HAVE worked out an industrial mobilization program which we are confident will meet his needs, reduce his difficulties, save days upon days of preparation and consequently thousands upon thousands of lives in battle. In keeping with a program of less war and fewer casualties, the War Department is substituting machines for men whenever possible.

Let us take a few concrete examples. For the World War infantry division of 22,000 men, we are substituting a force of approximately 13,000. The decrease in men is taken up by more guns, more trucks, more tanks, more armored cars and more mechanical robots.

Finally, let me say it is the sincere hope and prayer of every responsible person in the War Department that we will never have to call on a single truck, a single tank, a single machine gun or even a single rifle in defense of our country.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW ORLEANS—Impression of a Manhattan columnist in New Orleans: people drink wine here. And they seem happy. I asked Seymour Weiss how he explains this, and he replied: "There isn't much outside capital here. The people own everything themselves. And there's oil all over Louisiana. New Orleans is a happy city."

And people dress well here. There is an easy formality to the general picture. During summer in New York people go around in sport shirts and shirt sleeves, frequently without ties. They dress like their own moods. It isn't like that in New Orleans. You dress comfortably, but you don't sit down to dinner without a necktie or coat.

Native Orleanians are devoted to sea foods, of which there is always an abundance. When the shrimp fleet goes out each season it is blessed by high dignitaries of the church.

CRABS, both hardshell and soft-shell, are obtainable at all seasons. And they are surprisingly inexpensive. In the west end, along the Pontchartrain drive, are a number of notable but small seafood diners where bathers emerge from the water and appease their appetites over quantities of clam, shrimp, oysters and other gifts from the sea. This is one of the things to do—go swimming at night and follow with a seafood dinner.

At night the bars and supper clubs in the exclusive hotels are always crowded. The Roosevelt bar is perhaps the most unusual in the city. It is brand new. It is paneled entirely in African walnut, the wood coming from one gigantic tree. To this unusual setting Paul Ninas has lent four murals. The subject matter of which are peculiar to the Deep South. There is a

Shawangunk Is Placed on Record By Tremaine Staff

Albany, Sept. 1 (Special)—Another in the series of reports of audits of finances of Ulster county towns has been made public by officials on the staff of State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine—this time with respect to town finances of Shawangunk. The report covers the period from January 1, 1936 to September 30, 1937.

A summary of the report has been prepared by the bureau of municipal accounts, and copies of the report have been forwarded to local officials. The summary contains the following:

"The record relating to official oaths filed in the offices of the county clerk disclosed the fact that three officials of the town had not filed the statutory oath of office. It is also observed that two constables had not filed an official undertaking as required by law.

"It appears that in the years 1936 and 1937 the board of supervisors authorized a tax levy of $1,000 to be raised in the town and thereafter credited to the general fund by the supervisor to be expended for general town purposes. There is no authority to raise funds in advance in a town of the second class.

"It also appears that in some instances warrants were not drawn upon the supervisor for the disbursement of town funds to be made from the general fund. A general practice prevailed for the town clerk to draw warrants in November of each year for the items placed on the abstract.

"It was noted that the town clerk's highway allowance for 1936 had been paid twice and the examiners call attention to the fact that the payment last made thereon should be registered by the town clerk who received it.

"No provision is made in the town superintendent's estimate for 1936 for the supervisor's highway allowance for $300 for service to be rendered in highway matters. Notwithstanding this fact, however, $300 was paid to him on January 16, 1937, which under the circumstances was unauthorized and illegal.

"The supervisor had received one percentum compensation on moneys paid out on behalf of the Walkkill water district. This compensation should have been paid in the form of claims submitted by the supervisor for services performed, as those funds were not paid from the general fund of the town.

"Appropriations made for Memorial Day observance had been directed to a Post of the American Legion, whereas direct claims should have been submitted and paid by the supervisor to the claimants.

"It appears that a policeman had been employed at the polls, whereas it is the duty of the inspectors of election to maintain order at the polls.

"It has been the practice in this town for the members of the town board to render claims each year for mileage in connection with attending town board meetings. Such mileage should not be allowed, due to the absence of any statute which specifically permits it.

"A claim for fees was allowed and paid to a justice of the peace in two cases wherein the defendants were held to await the action of the grand jury. These fees constitute a county charge and should not be paid by the town.

"Excess mileage rates had been allowed peace officers inasmuch as a rate of 15 cents per mile had been allowed, whereas the statute now provides that 8 cents a mile shall be the legal rate.

"Claims of assessors were audited and allowed which were not in proper form inasmuch as they did not contain the requisite details.

"Claims of inspectors of election were also subjected to criticism inasmuch as the statutory rule had not been followed.

"The examination also disclosed the fact that claims of the town clerk for rental of office had been audited and allowed and also a lump sum claim for 'town services.' In the former instances there is no authority to pay and

LABOR DAY IS A HOLIDAY OBSERVE IT THE PICNIC WAY

Picnics are parties planned for the out-of-doors. They build health and happiness, provide an opportunity for freedom from confining duties and enable us to enjoy life more abundantly. Could there be a more ideal way to observe Labor Day?

PICK A PLAN FOR A PICNIC

From three general types one may pick a plan for a picnic that will surely spell success.

The basket-lunch picnic is the style mother and grandmother know and prefer. It means homemade beans, potato salad, thick meat-filled sandwiches, fried chicken and layer cake.

Men vote for the ready-to-cook picnic every time. They like to show their skill at building a fire and broiling steaks, or "franks" or "burgers." This type of picnic means hot food, yet kitchen freedom for the homemaker. She simply shops for meats and rolls, condiments and coffee, fruit, cake or cookies for dessert, and lets the men-folks do the cooking.

Easy-going picnickers go for the out-of-the-can picnic in a big way. Soups, beans, spaghetti, spiced meat, salmon, tuna fish, corned beef, fruits, fruit juices, nut bread, cheese, bottled beverages and beer, plus packaged cakes and cookies and crackers, form a picnic menu as varied as it is simple to prepare.

SANDWICHES A-PLenty!

It doesn't matter whether you have one or a dozen kinds of sandwiches, so long as you have plenty for all.

SANDWICH FILLINGS

Baked beans, drained and seasoned with chili sauce or horseradish.

Chopped corned beef with India relish or mustard pickles.
Equal parts of diced cooked ham and egg, seasoned with chowchow.
Ported meats and mayonnaise.
Raw carrots and chopped peanuts, moistened with mayonnaise.
Peanut butter and banana creamed together on nut bread.
Cream cheese, pimiento, pineapple.

At Home On Labor Day

If you will be a stay-at-home, you must pay the penalty. Like as not 'twill mean entertaining. But if you must do it, do it the easy way. Make it a labor-less Labor Day if possible.

The illustration below shows an attractive "pick-me-up" refreshment tray. Green and ripe olives, sweet gherkins, radishes, cheese and asparagus tips, plus sardines, mustard and toasted English muffins. Of course you'll want to serve icy drinks, coffee or beer as a beverage.

"PICK-ME-UPS" FOR ONE AND ALL

as to 'town services' a detailed statement should be made and payment made on a per diem basis.

"Claims of the attendance officer and registrar of vital statistics were also criticized and claims of the dog warden were not completely itemized. Claims of the town nurse for mileage were audited at a flat rate of $6 per week."

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Sept. 1.—At the gallery of the Woodstock Artists' Association on Saturday an exhibition of small paintings priced under $100 will open.

The show will be launched with one of the informal receptions which have met with popular approval this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hopf are completing their vacation in their Woodstock home after a brief return to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George Andrade of Miami, Florida, who have been spending a few weeks in their Bearsville home, left this week to return to Miami.

Mrs. A. F. Lawton and Miss Bertha Putnam have returned to Washington, D. C., after a visit here with their sister, Mrs. A. P. Thompson.

Warren Shultis is accompanying Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker to Boston, Mass. From there he will go to Gloucester to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Summers and family. Miss Mary Clough is also a guest of the Summers' lodge before their expected return on Labor Day.

Miss Mary Wilson has returned from a visit with friends in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Charles Sexton has been spending a few days at her summer cottage here.

Miss Mary Rogers of New York has been spending a few days with her family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Schrader of Jackson Heights, L. I., spent Monday and Tuesday visiting Mr. Schrader's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Schrader.

Miss Jane Reynolds of Kingston is visiting here with her cousin, Miss Ruth Thomas, of Peekskill, who is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wolven.

Miss Ethel Moncreux has returned from a vacation spent at Pine Knoll, in Conway, N. H.

Among Woodstock girls who were prize winners in the 4-H department of the county fair were Mariel Layman, first prizes for white yeast rolls and true sponge cake; Doris Dock, third for grain bread; and Edith Hasbrouck first for yeast rolls and second for loaf cake. In the home department of the fair Mrs. George Layman won a prize for a crocheted bedspread.

Nearly twenty dollars were made at the performance given by the Woodstock Playhouse Apprentice Group on Monday for the benefit of the Woodstock Boy Scout troop. This is nearly twice as much as the sum made by last year's apprentice group for the same organization.

Go Home Painless Rochester, N. Y. (UP)—Three Rochesterians wore their bathing suits home from a beach for the simple reason that someone stole their pants. Seven dollars and some change went with the trousers.

Governor Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina, one of the last of the old-time orators wears a Prince Albert coat on all occasions.

Swedish Branch Conference

Jamestown, N. Y., Sept. 1 (UP)—Delegates from Colorado to Connecticut gathered here today for sessions of the central northwest conference of the Swedish branch of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Bishop Adna Wright attacked governmental experimentation in a pre-conference address here last night.

Using the facilities of international bridge, ferry and tunnel companies, a total of 7,474,043 motor vehicles crossed the Ontario-United States boundary in 1937. Bishop Wright compared both directions in 1937 compared with 4,450,357 in 1936.

Shag Teams to Go On Trip to Fair

Four of the happiest young people in Ulster county today are the two winning teams in shag contests which have been conducted at Hulings Barn for a month, in conjunction with the Arthur Murray State Fair dance contests.

Last night Walter Himmelberg and his sister, Alice, of New Paltz and Ernest Mosher with his attractive young partner, Miss Ida Roosa, of Kingston, received a letter from Arthur Murray, the great dancing instructor, containing a personal invitation from Mr. Murray to be there. And after they received the letter, Mark Huling, proprietor of the Barn, announced that the young people will go to Syracuse Saturday with the expense of the trip being paid by himself.

The final contest for the grand prizes will get under way at the State Fair grounds Saturday evening at 8 o'clock with Arthur Murray himself as one of the judges. The prizes consist of a movie contract, a stage contract for large New York theatres, $500 in cash, several Fada radios and Arthur Murray Shag jackets.

In the opinion of those who know their dancing, Kingston should really show the visitors to the State Fair something in the line of Shagging as both young couples have been practicing hard for their big chance and they have been giving exhibitions on several occasions, the Himmelbergs holding forth at Williams Lake and Miss Roosa and Mr. Mosher at the Barn.

Section of 'Heaven' Becomes Inferno

Tuesday morning a section of the combined hen house and garage in the Wilbur Heaven of Father Divine was demolished by fire. Firemen may be seen desperately fighting to gain control of the flames and prevent them from spreading to the large house.

Spencer Bostwick Inherits

New York, Aug. 31 (Special).—A twelfth of the residuary estate of his aunt, the late Mary G. Bostwick, of New York, goes to Spencer Bostwick of Woodland. The bequest amounts to $981. Mrs. Bostwick died December 29, 1937. Her estate was appraised today by the State Transfer Tax Department at $13,647, gross value, and $12,678, net.

Chatham, England (AP)—Most people know about the "Golf Widow" whose husband lives on the golf course. Now the "darts widow" has arrived. She is 22-year-old Mrs. Patricia Baker of Cuxton who obtained a court order for maintenance against her husband. She complained he fell for the dart craze, spent most nights playing darts in public houses, neglecting her and the home was broken up.

"HINES POLICY 'CUT' $40,000 AS 'FIXER'"

One-time "kid mouthpiece" of the multi-million dollar Dutch Schultz policy rackets, 32-year-old J. Richard (Dixie) Davis (left) was this close as he went to court in New York city to testify at James J. Hines' trial that he paid the Tammany leader about $40,000 as political "fixer" for the Schultz mob. Davis—ironically—was in custody of Detective James M. Vanavan (right), who earlier had testified at the Hines trial that he was demoted in rank after conducting persistent raids on Schultz-controlled policy banks. Man in center is unidentified.

'Dixie' Davis Sketches Battle Waged to Elect W. C. Dodge

New York, Sept. 1 (AP)—All the tactics of cross-examination for which Lloyd Paul Stryker is known were arrayed today for an attack on the testimony of gang lawyer J. Richard (Dixie) Davis that Tammany District Leader James J. Hines sold political protection to the Dutch Schultz lottery racket.

The 33-year-old "kid mouthpiece" who was the attorney general of the racket at $1,000 a week faces a chief defense counsel for whose expertise has been cited in a text-book on law.

Leading toward the witness,

Justice Ferdinand Pecora heard Davis say that $12,000 to $15,000 was contributed from racket funds to the campaign of William Copeland Dodge, who defeated Pecora and another candidate for district attorney in 1933.

Davis added that 100-odd gangster "floaters" were recruited by the Schultz mob, and they voted hundreds of times for Dodge in Hines' 11th Assembly District.

Leading Davis through his electrifying recital, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey prompted him to tell how Hines in 1935 attempted, said Davis, to forestall the appointment of Dewey as special rackets prosecutor.

Refused the Tammany nomination for district attorney which went to Hines' choice (Dodge), Pecora rose from defeat to national fame as counsel of the Senate banking committee's stock exchange inquiry, was appointed, then elected, a judge and so came to preside, somewhat by chance, at Hines' trial.

Appointed special prosecutor by Governor Lehman, at the instance of a runaway grand jury which, Davis said, began prying into Hines' affairs, Dewey started three years ago the racket-busting campaign which even today brought Hines to court as a defendant for the first time in his 61 years.

The actions of the angry, runaway grand jury of March, 1935, constituted the first chapter, as Davis told it, in the plot of the political melodrama the latter chapters of which are now being written on supreme court records.

"I told Mr. Hines at that time," said Davis, "what I had been questioned in the grand jury room about the various bankers in the (policy racket) combination, that I had also been questioned about him, that I had also been asked many questions about myself, and I told him it seemed to me that this thing would reach serious proportions unless something was done about it, unless it was stopped somehow."

Assistant District Attorney Maurice Wahl was asking the embarrassing questions, Davis said.

5 Killed in Explosion

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 1 (AP)—A terrific dynamite explosion that killed five men at a stone quarry puzzled officers today. The men, William Bizzell and Harley Webb, white, and Will Henry, Wesley Moore, and Guy Davis, negroes, were perched on a perpendicular 200-foot cliff yesterday when 50 pounds of dynamite exploded.

Woman Injured At West Hurley

Mrs. Arthur B. Lennstrom of 115-40 Metropolitan avenue, Kew Gardens, L. I., is in a serious condition at the Kingston Hospital as a result of an automobile accident near Takalon Kennels on the West Hurley-Woodstock road shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. Mr. Lennstrom's condition was reported as apparently good but are under the care of Dr. Frederick Carr.

At 1:50 o'clock this morning, Schuyler Schultz, Jr., of 154 Fair street notified the sheriff's office that a Cadillac car badly damaged was in the ditch just beyond the Takalon Kennels and valuable catches were in the car. Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough made an investigation and found that Mr. and Mrs. Lennstrom had been taken to the Kingston Hospital by John Weber of 60 West Chestnut street, who came by a few minutes after the Cadillac car skidded on the turn and crashed into a tree. The woman's purse, containing jewelry and other valuables found in the car were taken in charge by the sheriff's office and the car, badly wrecked, was taken to "Doc" Smith's Garage.

Park Director Is Given Party

Yesterday was "Party Day" at Loughran Park, and it all came about when the children at the playground discovered that it was the birthday of the girls' playground director, Florence Knetsch.

A committee took it upon itself to have a surprise party for the director who is completing her second season at Loughran Park. At 2 o'clock she was ushered into the shelter house where a large lighted birthday cake was set up. Miss Knetsch was presented with a beautiful bouquet by the children, and just to show their appreciation to Adriaan C. Knetsch, boys' playground director, the children gave him a present, birthday or not.

All the children on the playground were then given ice cream, cake, candy and soda. Several were heard to say that they wished Miss Knetsch would have more birthdays during the summer.

The committee, who arranged the party, was composed of Millie Rhymier, Doty Lawson, Elizabeth Glass, Anita Crough, Mary Squires, Frank Mazzuca, Mrs. Rhymier and Gert Rhymier.

When Bees Do Not Sting
There's a good reason why bees do not sting while swarming. Before leaving the hive they gorge themselves with honey. Like a human who has over-eaten, they're too stuffed and sleepy to mind disturbances. Bees swarm, or leave the old hive, when crowded out by bees hatched that spring. In each swarming, says a writer in the Washington Post, worker bees cluster around the queen bee to protect her each time she alights. Thus, by cornering the queen, the whole hive can be captured.

Druggists Are Holding Nationwide Celebration

Flags are flying today—red, white and blue ones, too—in drug stores all over the city, this time not in honor of July 4, but of September 1. For today for druggists here and from coast to coast, marks the beginning of a nationwide celebration for druggists all over the country who are holding open house for the next 10 days to mark the nation's first National Advertiser Brands Week in the drug store.

Simultaneously planned by local druggists and their fellow-druggists throughout the U. S., Nationally Advertiser Brands Week is being staged as a tribute to leading nationally advertised products on drug store counters, with special displays of both new and familiar products created by most drug stores throughout the city.

Washington (AP)—A stamp-pad ink which penetrates most kinds of paper so quickly that there's little or no blurring of the impressions when they are rubbed with the finger-tips immediately after they are made, has been developed at the National Bureau of Standards. A stamp-pad filled with this ink has been in steady use for three months with only one re-inking, in spite of the fact that the pad has been left open nearly all the time.

FREEDOM from heating worries! Freedom from firing drudgery! Freedom from hot water troubles! Those are but a few of the advantages offered by the General Electric Oil Furnace.

In addition—this remarkable heating unit offers unusual savings on fuel bills. Owners report savings of 25 to 50 per cent!

By applying a new principle of "atomization" to oil burning, General Electric engineers have been able to "wring out" the last unit of practicable heat. And—in addition—they have found a way of "trapping" much of the "lost heat".

Don't fail to see this remarkable G-E Oil Furnace in operation. Only then can you appreciate fully the comfort it offers and the money it saves. Come in today, or write for free literature.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Steamed Up

Richmond, Va.—The temperature was approaching 90 and a perspiring police desk sergeant mopped his brow as he reached for the telephone.

"What's that?" he said. "Well I'll be—"

It was a contractor, reporting the theft of 12 steam radiators from an apartment under construction.

Lone Ranger

Indianapolis—Playing cowboy, 14-year-old Charles Luther Fields but the trail in a boxcar—but it wasn't his fault.

Two playmates roped and bound him in a railroad yard near his home in Hamilton, O.

They put him in a freight car. Before they could get him out, the train pulled away toward Indianapolis.

Railroad detectives found the boy here and notified his relatives.

Vision

Cala City, Kas.—A half century ago an aged priest at Holyrood, Canada, urged a group of Canadians to make a fresh start, settle in western Kansas.

Prospering here, the group in gratitude decided a plot of land to the church.

Now the land gives promise of even greater return to the church. An oil company has leased the site, and may soon be paying royalties.

Time and Tide, etc.

Eugene, Ore.—When the clock in the Lane county courthouse tower stopped running an expert started repairs by removing a cog-wheel and assorted metal.

During the expert's absence a janitor walked in with wrench and crowbar. The clock began ticking.

The expert fears damage because of missing parts, but the clock runs merrily on—showing the correct time.

Appeals of State Employees

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—

Hearings on appeals of state employees under new salary rates will begin September 7, Frank L. Tolman, secretary of the temporary salary standardization board, has announced. The salaries from which state employees may appeal were set under the Feld-Hamilton Civil Service Reclassification Law. Hearings on appeals have been completed, Tolman said. Individual employee appeals will be made only by "service committees," who will present facts relating only to jobs within certain groups, he added.

North Hornell, N. Y. (AP)—Motorists were a bit taken aback when they saw workmen carefully placing squares of sod in the middle of a new three-strip concrete highway. Several officials professed no knowledge of the undertaking, but Lee Walker, of the state highway department, explained the sod was placed to cover fresh cement in test boring holes in the roadway. Meanwhile, careful motorists dodged the verdant grass.

THE AVERAGE MOVIE-GOER SPEAKS HIS MIND...

IT'S HARD for a fellow like me who thinks apple pie is one of nature's greatest gifts to man to believe that there are folks who honestly don't like it at all.

On the other hand, I can't abide liver and bacon—though I know it's highly regarded by many.

We all have our likes and our dislikes. We're all different—thanks be! A dull world it would be if we weren't.

That's why I say that the most remarkable thing about motion pictures is that they hit such a high average of pleasure-giving.

Take any individual picture and you'll find that most people who see it will get a lot of enjoyment out of it.

Not all, naturally. For example, I think a certain star is tops—while, to hear the way my next-door neighbor goes on about her, you'd think she wasn't good enough to be an "extra".

Or my wife sees a picture during the afternoon and raves about it at dinner. Maybe son and I take it in that evening—and come home feeling that Mother is losing her judgment. And there you are. It's the apple pie situation all over again.

But, taking them all together, I figure that the "movies" give more pleasure to more people at a lot less cost than most anything the mind of man was ever responsible for—and have done the human race more downright good than all the medicines concocted since creation.

And I'll say this: The times when I've been disappointed in a picture have been a lot fewer than the other times when I've gone to see one I wasn't especially excited about in advance and been mighty glad I did.

Sure, I criticize the pictures. I pay my money and that's my right. As a matter of fact, I kind of figure that it's the criticism of average folks like me that's largely responsible for the pictures getting better and better all the time.

The Sea Gull

To End Season

Woodstock, Sept. 1.—For almost the entire season, members of the Woodstock Playhouse have been concentrating on their roles in "The Sea Gull," which will open this evening as the last performance of the season.

Yelma Royton, in the role of the actress, will call upon her many years of experience for a proper and effective characterization of the part. Miss Royton has appeared as leading woman in London, South America, South Africa and Australia.

In the role of the son is Harry Young, who has this past season distinguished himself with many fine performances at the Playhouse. Mr. Young, before coming to Woodstock, played for five years on a variety of stages on Broadway, on the road and in stock.

As Nina, the young girl, for whom the title of the play is symbolic, is Nina Partridge, who brings to the play an ethereal quality that adds so much to its beauty. Miss Partridge has studied here and abroad. In addition to her work on the stage, she is to be credited with the designing of the beautiful clothes that are worn.

Robert Duke plays Trigorin, the literary man, who is really a simple soul. Mr. Duke, too, has studied here and abroad, and has many times this season delighted the audience at the Playhouse. Others in the cast playing important roles are Frank Roth, Stephanie Spector, Jean Barrere, Marion L. Sittler, Houseley Stevens, Edwin Batcheller and Betty Macdonald.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Sound technicians mastered the problem of extraneous noises and the squawks became talkies.

Look into the one sound stage Hollywood had ten years ago. With the help of Major Nathan Levinson, then and now in charge of the Warner Bros. sound department, we can do this:

It's a forbidding bulk of concrete. Its inner walls are heavily insulated with rock wool and composition board (celotex) to prevent reverberation and assure soundproofing.

The set where the actors will perform is small. Before it, in glass-front booths each about eight feet square, are imprisoned cameramen and cameramen. Nearby, connected with the camera booths by electrical lines, is the sound mixer, occupied by the "sound mixer" and his equipment. It too has a glass front, is shut tight against air and sound. These booths are veritable Black Holes of California, hot and breathless. After each "take" the men rush out, gasping for air.

Sound Man Rules

Suspended from pulleys overhead are several microphones. They cannot be moved because that would distort the recording, create extraneous noise. The actors, ready for the scene, glance apprehensively at the "mikes."

All right, they're shooting. In deadly quiet, the actors advance cautiously. They glance upward to be sure they are under their respective "mikes." Each in turn speaks his lines. If he moves away, it's too bad. The scene will have to be done again. The slightest unexpected noise can throw the whole set into confusion.

The sound man is monarch of the set.

Sometimes, in this 1928 stage, microphones are planted behind "props" such as a vase of flowers, a row of books, a potted plant, a statue.

It is a wonder that sound films were made at all. The difficulties were numerous, the medium strange. But the results, for the time, were astounding.

Discs Abandoned

In those days the Warners used the sound-on-disc system of recording, similar to the ordinary phonograph record. The other studios used the sound-on-film, already employed experimentally in Fox newsreels. The "sound track" or photographed sound waves was on one reel, the pictures on another, the two later superimposed to become one reel. As early as 1930, however, Warners were abandoning the disc recordings, and now sound-on-film is universal.

Washington (AP)—When the new Navajo-Hopi Indian medical center was dedicated at Port Defiance, Arizona, this summer, the ceremonies included the chanting of a group of medicine men who scattered "sacred pollen" on each floor of the new building. When the ceremonies were over the Indians asked to ride in the elevators; for many of them it was their first such ride.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Before marriage a girl has to kiss a man to hold him; after marriage she has to hold him to kiss him.

Mrs. M.—Just been lunching with your husband, darling?

Mrs. P.—Yes, but I hope it won't reach the ears of his secretary, she's so jealous.

Anything can be bought at a cut price, except lasting satisfaction.

Mathematics has its difficulties even for experts.

Acquaintance—Did you ever run up against a mathematical problem?

Famous Mathematician—Yes, indeed; I could never figure out how, according to the advertisements, 85 per cent of the dentist's recommend one brand of tooth paste, 92 per cent, recommend another brand, and 95 per cent recommend a third brand.

Read It Or Not

Torpedo fish give electric shocks to their enemies.

Native—What do you think of our town?

Visitor—It certainly is unique.

Native—What do you mean—unique?

Visitor—It comes from two Latin words—"inus" meaning one, and "equus" meaning horse.

Exasperated Wife—The night before last you came home yesterday. Last night you came home today. If you come home this evening tomorrow night, I'll go straight home to mother.

Harold—That means a fight where I come from?

Gerald—Well, why don't you fight then?

Harold—Because I ain't where I come from.

When we are right we credit our good judgment; when we are wrong we curse our luck.

A teacher called for sentences using the word "beans":

"My father grows beans," said the bright boy of the class.

"My mother cooks beans," said another smart pupil.

"We are all human beans," popped up the third.

Young Fellow (of sporty attire)—I'd like a couple of hard-boiled eggs to take out.

Waitress (with a smile)—All right, but you'll have to wait awhile. My chum and I don't get off until 9 o'clock.

Home

It is more than brick and mortar with a roof to shed the storm.

It is more than walls and windows, with a hearth to keep us warm.

It is more than just a tavern where hungry mouths are fed.

Or, when journey's ended, where we rest our weary head.

It isn't just a hangout when there's nothing else to do.

Or to which we wander slowly when the nightly "dates" are through.

It's a haven when we're battered by the tempest of the day.

Where there's peace and understanding that will chase our cares away.

It's the place our hearts return to, though our errant feet may roam.

It's our earthly bit of Heaven, it's that paradise called Home.

—Martin P. Owens

Friend—Your husband is always complaining that he leads a dog's life.

Woman—Well, he comes home with muddy feet, makes himself comfortable in the easiest chair in front of the fire, waits until he is fed, and grows.

When lost, it is better to stand still than to run in the wrong direction. This applies to governments as well as individuals.

Neighbor Groot—Have your hens stopped laying?

Farmer Goober—Well, three of them have stopped in the last three days.

Neighbor Groot—What was the cause?

Farmer Goober—To much summer company.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland Favors Water Proposal

Highland, Aug. 31.—Steps were taken Monday evening at a meeting of the citizens of Highland to improve the water supply for the village, when the representatives gathered unanimously voted to provide for adequate water supply. This motion made by J. W. Feeter and seconded by Herman Sandy met with the approval of everyone.

The committee appointed at a previous meeting was empowered to make informal application for a PWA grant and to start the formation of a water district. The members of the committee are George Hildebrand, J. J. Knott, Dr. Victor P. Salvatore, Howard E. Wilcox, Clarence W. Rathge, Charles L. DuBois.

The fire commissioners had called two previous meetings in the rooms of the fire company, when the members of the Town Board had been present and the appointing of the committee was the outcome of the last meeting and the decision to ask the opinion of the public in an open meeting.

Orange S. Ingraham, one of the five fire commissioners, called the meeting to order and asked H. E. Wilcox to preside. This Mr. Wilcox did until the arrival of Supervisor John P. Wadlin, who had many facts and figures to present. Included was the capacity and sizes of the four present reservoirs, the statement that the fire district was paying $3,000 a year for water and rental of hydrants, and that the total capacity of the reservoirs was 5,550,000 gallons of water with a need of from 23,000,000 to 30,000,000 gallons.

Mr. Wadlin read the statement of Barker and Wheeler, of Albany, who had made a survey of this whole territory in 1936, and their suggestions for an increased water storage. In view of their findings there was either the need of pumping or filtration plants which added to the cost of a water system. No figures were given at the meeting Monday evening or any action taken on the purchase of the present plant which has been offered for the price of $100,000, or the laying out of a new system.

Some figures as to the cost of laying pipe were given by Mr. Hannan of the PWA, as he had had experience in the installing of the Port Ewen system. Since the time for making applications for PWA grants closes September 30 the first action was to apply for this in view of the need of a better water supply. Harry Wezenaar was appointed clerk for the meeting.

Representative property holders present among the crowd were: John P. Whitley, Jay H. Mellus, George W. Pratt, Arthur B. Merritt, Fred Decker, A. W. and H. A. Lent, W. D. Bond, John Dushinber, John Gold, D. H. Kurtz, George Wood, John Parks, Allan Haskbrouck, Herman Sandy, James R. Swift, C. W. Rathge, Dr. Salvatore, J. J. Knott, LeGrand Haviland, Sr., C. L. ## Salads That Slither Down

Men prefer salads that have a tang to them and are not over-sweet. Yet they must be cool, crisp and colorful. Unflavored gelatine makes salads of this type because the homemaker can add seasonings and colorings to suit her own taste. But there's no reason why the flavored gelatine may not be used for salads, providing you season it as carefully as you do the unflavored gelatine. Dry seasonings such as dry mustard, salt, pepper, paprika and chili powder may be added as soon as the gelatine has dissolved. Vinegar or lemon juice, because they are liquids, should supplant the same amount of cold water specified in the recipe. In other words, if you wish to add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice, take out 2 tablespoons of water before combining it with the gelatine.

In the salad pictured below, sections of slices of pineapple and sliced cucumbers are molded into a fruit flavored gelatine. The center of the ring is filled with a mixture of cottage cheese, chopped cooked prunes, walnuts and mayonnaise, topped with a slice of pineapple and a berry. Half slices of pineapple and fresh berries, arranged on a bed of lettuce, complete the salad platter.

RASPBERRY CHEESE SALAD

1 cup washed raspberries, 3 tablespoons granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1½ teaspoons unflavored gelatine, 2 tablespoons boiling water, 1½ sprinkle gelatin on top. Add boiling water and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon juice, salt, pineapple and sugared berries. Cool and when beginning to thicken add cheese and beat with a spoon until well mixed. Fold in the cream and turn into a one-quart mold. Chill until firm; then unmold on lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise.

Beat egg yolks slightly, add a little hot mixture, stir quickly into filling. Stir and cook until eggs thicken. Remove from heat and cool. Add flavorings. Fill cooled baked pastry shell. Arrange pears, rounded end toward rim of

PIES FOR PARTIES

Cakes and ices are considered party fare. But what about pies? Of course, one has to select the pie for the occasion—just as one must select the cake; but surely open-face pies are no heavier or heartier to eat—and no longer are they hard to digest, not if one uses a creamed or all-vegetable shortening.

Hay Fever Trick Ends in Protest

A hay fever season scheme of an endless chain of handkerchiefs has been broken by the post office in Middletown when 40 chain postal cards already have been confiscated by office employees and will be sent to the post office department in Washington for an indefinite disposition—probably destruction.

The post office there warned that anyone who was suffering from hay fever and attracted by the chain goal of obtaining "75 handkerchiefs" for a few cents was doomed to disappointment and was just wasting money on the post cards.

The chain of postcards are rather humorous. At the top are three names. The third is that of the sender. Beneath this reads: "This is a chain founded to increase your hanky supply. Make five copies of this card, word for word, omitting the top name and adding yours to the bottom. Then pin your name to a hanky and mail to the top name on this card. You will receive 75 hankies so don't break the chain."

Postmaster William R. Kraft of the Kingston post office when questioned today said that as far as he knew the chain postcards had not reached Kingston as yet.

Kerhonkson Union School Activities

Kerhonkson, Sept. 1.—According to a recent communication from the State Education Department at Albany, all Regents papers claimed by the Kerhonkson Union School were accepted. This is the first time such a record has been reached since the opening of the school.

Schools will open Tuesday, September 6. Grade pupils and upper classmen in the high school will report at 9 a. m. Freshmen will register at 1 p. m. It is expected that there will be a marked increase in the enrollment this year.

Those who had planned to attend the Kerhonkson High School from outlying districts, but who failed one or two elementary Regents subjects are eligible for admission. Such pupils are advised to see the principal.

The Board of Education has announced that Donald Schonger, of Kerhonkson, has been appointed custodian to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Eli Addis. Mr. Schonger graduated from this school in June, 1933.

The following improvements were brought about by the Board of Education during the summer months: Floors in the entire building were refinished, the auditorium and classrooms on the lower floor and the lower hall were painted, a new floor was laid in the third grade room, two new offices were built over the stairs on the second floor and the concrete walks and steps were repaired.

The Board of Education is confident that the coming year will prove to be both progressive and successful.

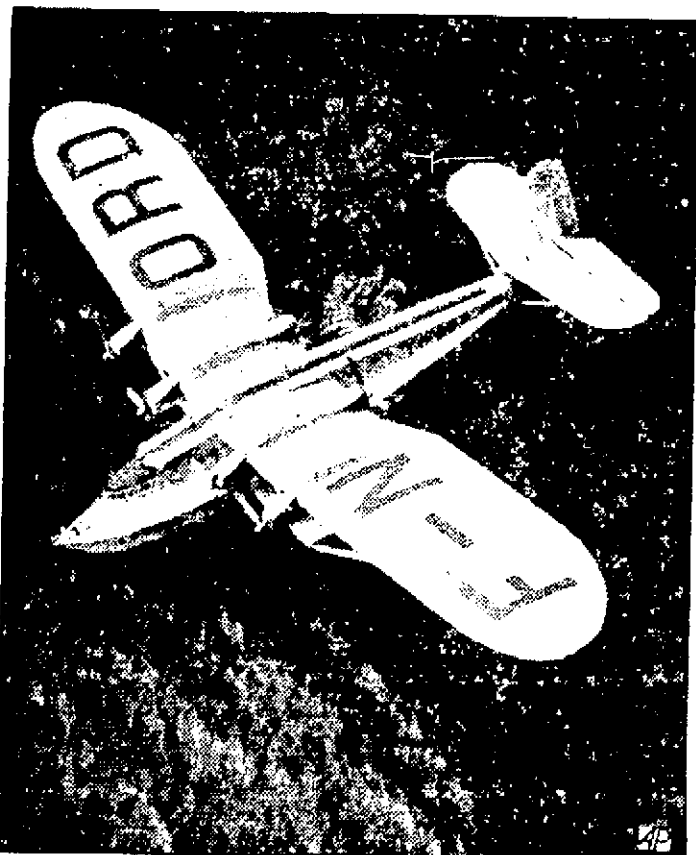

To Serve Supper
The Board of Stewards of the Methodist Church will serve a Roast Beef and Roast Lamb Dinner in the Church Hall at 6 o'clock to-morrow evening.

Special Hen Food Gives Fancy Eggs

The old descriptive phrase "sunny side up" may be due to future variation in designating the style of your fried egg, if a new invention in poultry diet takes practical and popular root. It was revealed yesterday afternoon through a demonstration in The Freeman editorial room.

You may have colors of the rainbow with your breakfast ration or any other favorite line, according to Lester O. Reynolds of 54 St. James street, the demonstrator, who represents C. H. Hummer, Jr., feed dealer of 35 O'Neil street.

"What color yolk would you like?" asked Mr. Reynolds pleasantly, as he prepared to lift an egg from the box.

"Red," suggested a reporter. Mr. Reynolds looked over the eggs in the box and selecting one he broke it into a paper dish. The yolk was a perfect red.

"How about green next," he suggested, and broke another egg in another dish. The yolk was a bright green.

Mr. Reynolds then broke a third egg, which was the ordinary kind that is purchased by the housewife.

"The color of red and green," he explained, "is obtained by mixing a certain ingredient with the chicken mash. This ingredient is a vegetable substance and does not destroy the nutritive value of the egg." He said that it showed that it was possible to control the quality of the egg and demonstrated that an egg can be built to order.

At the present time there is a flock of eight hens in the show window at the feed store on O'Neil street which are being fed this mash to which the other ingredient is added.

In order to have an egg with either a green or red yolk as desired it is necessary to feed the hen on this mash for a period of from 5 to 14 days. "A peculiar feature about it," said Mr. Reynolds, "is that the pigment of the hen's feet turns either red or green as well as the flesh of the foot."

Is there any other color yolk that can be obtained? he was asked and replied that it was possible to obtain any desired shade by using the additional ingredient and mixing it with the laying mash.

At the present time the flock of hens at the O'Neil street show room are being fed to produce eggs with either red or green yolks.

DROP IN ADDICTION TO DRUGS IS SHOWN

Smashing of Narcotic Ring Told by Bureau.

WASHINGTON.—A sharp drop in the number of non-medical drug addicts for the fiscal year just ended has been reported to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau by H. J. Anslinger, narcotics commissioner.

Mr. Anslinger said that non-medical addicts in the country probably did not exceed 50,000, and the ratio of addiction, which previously had been considered as one per 1,000, had dropped to about one per 3,000.

He reported the crushing of "a narcotic drug smuggling conspiracy of world-wide ramifications," when the bureau of narcotics and customs agents arrested members of a ring headed by Jasja Katzenberg, Joseph Lovovsky and Louis Buchalter, alias Lepke, at New York. He said the ring smuggled drugs from Tientsin, China, sufficient to supply the needs of 10,000 addicts for a year.

Japan Is Blamed.

"This case was a forceful demonstration of the absence of control over illicit narcotic drugs in the Japanese-dominated areas in China," Mr. Anslinger said.

James H. Moyle, customs commissioner, reported that illicit drugs continued to come into the port of New York in considerable quantities and were apparently being transported overland to inland cities. He said the price of narcotics in New York had remained fairly constant.

During the year the bureau of narcotics seized 9,561 ounces of drugs, as compared with 21,418 ounces the preceding year. Arrests numbered 3,206 for the 1938 fiscal year, ended June 30, compared with 3,469 in the 1937 fiscal year.

Liquor Violations.

Reflecting the general decline of the illicit liquor traffic, there was noted a decrease in the activity of non-tax-paid liquor violators. During the 1938 fiscal year, 25,884 persons were arrested for violation of the federal liquor laws, against 29,447 for the year before, according to the report of Stewart Berkshire, deputy commissioner of internal revenue.

During the 1935 and 1936 fiscal year large seizures of mash, the recognized criterion of illicit distilling operations, were made in the North and Middlewest. In the 1937 and 1938 fiscal years there was a shift of mash seizures to the southern states, a territory essentially the base of operation of the small violator of the liquor laws.

Chief Frank J. Wilson of the secret service reported that counterfeit notes aggregating $619,290 were seized during the 1938 fiscal year, as compared with $654,787 in the preceding year. Counterfeit coins in the amount of $54,423 were confiscated by the secret service in 1938 against $67,393 in 1937.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 35 to 40), who feels she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells. Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give women the ability to enjoy life and ward off jitters, nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Tydings Says New Deal Court Bill Hinged on Hughes

Washington, Sept. 1 (AP)—Senator Tydings (D., Md.) told a campaign audience last night that the administration offered to accept a compromise on the court reorganization bill last year provided Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes would resign.

Speaking at suburban Hyattsville, Md., Tydings asserted, "I was told that we would have to induce another member of the court to resign. We were asked to get Mr. Hughes to quit and I was told the name of the man who could persuade him to resign."

Tydings, who faces the direct opposition of President Roosevelt in the fight for reorganization, said he acted as spokesman for foes of the court plan in offering a compromise proposal to the administration.

Opponents of the bill, Tydings related, offered to accept the measure as written provided it did not apply to sitting members of the supreme bench. Tydings said he pointed out that Justice Van Devanter had retired and that there were reports Justice Sutherland also would step down.

When representatives of the administration demanded that Hughes also resign before a compromise was accepted, Tydings said, the opposition bloc refused to accept the condition. Soon afterward, he recalled, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, then majority leader, died, and administration forces offered to accept the original compromise proposal.

Their offer was rejected and the bill was sent back to the judiciary committee.

Tydings is opposed for re-nomination by Rep. Lewis (D., Md.), who has the open support of President Roosevelt.

Game at Loughran Park

Fair Street and Clinton Avenue will clash in the second game of the series to decide the softball champions of the Church League tonight at Loughran Park, beginning at 6 o'clock. This game originally scheduled for the Armory diamond but due to other events the game at Loughran Park—the same as Tuesday evening's game—will be used.

The Laurentian Mountains

The Laurentian mountains constitute a crescent-shaped plateau-like height of land in British North America, extending for over 3,000 miles from Labrador to the Arctic ocean, surrounding Hudson bay, forming the watershed between Hudson bay, the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes, and dividing the same bay from the sources of the Mackenzie river. The average elevation of this range is about 1,500 feet, although some of the peaks attain an altitude of 3,000 feet.

DARWIN, AUSTRALIA.—Australia's flying doctors think they are really one up on the old-time country doctor of America. One of them, Dr. J. E. Fenton, made three calls in the course of a day and a half during which he flew 1,800 miles.

Botanist Trails Flea

Milton School Ready to Open

The Milton District Grade School, which was opened in September, will resume classes on the seventh of this month. About 150 pupils ranging from the first to the sixth grades will register for the fall term.

Almost 1,000 Pupils to Enroll At Myron J. Michael School

In the new building, which is of local brick with limestone trim, will be 20 class rooms, 10 on each floor, with two study halls, library, two science rooms, teachers' rooms, music room, lunch room, executive offices, a combination gym and auditorium which will seat approximately 700, medical rooms, showers, locker rooms and other service rooms.

Location of Class Rooms

The class rooms will be located on the two main floors with the cafeteria, kitchen, gym, showers and physical headquarters department in the basement. In the sub-basement which runs off the O'Reilly street entrance is the boiler room, bicycle room and service departments. Because of the make-up of the site it was found desirable to reduce excavation costs and it is here the boiler rooms and coal bins are located. The combination auditorium and gym occupies the addition extending toward O'Reilly street.

Executive offices and principal's office are on the main floor. In the gym and auditorium will be approximately 350 folding chairs and bleachers against the walls will accommodate another 350. The auditorium-gym is 66 by 68 feet in size with an 18 foot clearance between floor and trusses.

System of Ventilation

One of the features of the new building is the system of ventilation. Every room will be served by a series of air ducts which will change the air in the building very rapidly, replacing it with warm air. The cupola which is a decoration also serves a useful purpose. It is in this cupola that all ventilation ducts lead and the attic over the second floor is a mass of air ducts leading to every portion of the building. The kitchen, adjacent to the cafeteria, is ventilated by force feed to carry off excess heat and fumes. There need be no eye strain in the new school for it is equipped with the latest type of "electric eye" device for turning on the lighting system as soon as the degree of light in a classroom drops to a certain degree. This is a system which is being installed in all new construction where eye strain is liable to take place. The kitchens of the school will be of a kind which will create envy from all good house-keepers. All modern equipment and devices are being installed and the equipment so far as possible will be of stainless steel, sanitary and easy to keep clean. Much of this equipment is now on the way and will be installed by the last of the week and be in working order when needed for the student body.

Surprise in Store

For those who would not believe the Myron J. Michael school building would be ready for fall occupancy there awaits a surprise in store for there will be no delay in registration and occupancy next week, although there may remain a few finishing details to be done.

The W. W. Kingston Co. will have work on the upper floor completed Friday of this week and all attention will be directed to complete the lower floor. Some of the furniture will be placed today and others will arrive during the day and be placed during the last of the week. All teachers' desks were shipped on August 24 and should be on hand for the opening of the building. Seats from the American Seating Co., purchased through the Hardenberg Co., are on the way and will be placed as soon as received and all cafeteria equipment will be completely installed Friday.

Wednesday the Kingston Co. had 12 carpenters working in the gym in order to complete that room, although there will be no urgent need for that room during the opening week.

Working on Roadway

The Cold-mix Co., low bidders for the roadway from Andrew street and around the building, signed a contract for this work on Wednesday and today were moving a steam shovel to the job to begin grading operations. This work will take some time but will be rushed to completion. The work of laying the sidewalks is progressing and the W. W. Kingston Company, low bidders, will have grading operations completed and the work of laying concrete will be under way in a few days. All this work will be completed before cold weather.

Under the supervision of Frank Elmendorf, school mechanic, a new and wider wooden stairway is being built to connect the upper level with the lower level on which the new school stands. The new stairs will be needed in place of the narrow stairs because of the required communications between the two buildings which stand on different levels.

Wiring Is Complete

Wiring in the new building is completed and the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. was busy running the service wires in underground conduits from the high school building to the Myron J. Michael School on Wednesday. President Alfred Schmid of the Board of Education, who was on the job Wednesday checking up on last minute operations, said there was no doubt but that the new building would be ready for class work as soon as the registrations were completed. Certain administration details would have to be worked out when school opened and as these minor problems presented themselves, Superintendent Van Ingen said he felt that outside of minor adjustments to the system everything was in order for the commencement of the fall term.

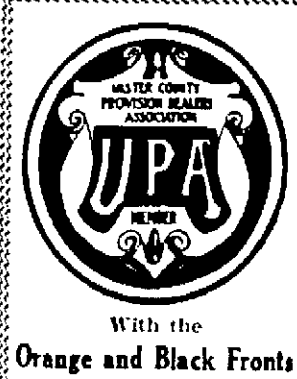

PROTEST by American Federation of Labor failed to prevent reappointment of Donald W. Smith (above), Pennsylvania, to National Labor Relations Board for 5-year term.

Autumn Display On September 22

The association voted to rent a post office box and appoint a "secret committee" which will have charge of either approving or disapproving of all types of program advertising. Any person publishing a program in the future will meet with little success unless the secret committee is first gained. Application must be made to the committee through a post office box, which will be made known by any merchant and if the movement is approved the secret committee will issue proper credentials to the publisher. Solicitation without the credential will meet with refusal by members of the association to take any advertisements in any program.

George Bondel thanked the merchants for their cooperation in the "Sales Men Jobs" campaign and urged them to continue the campaign. He asked that they freshen up their yellow posters on display.

President Rowe appointed as a committee to have charge of fall display opening Messrs. Molloy, Reinold, Wulp, Davey and London.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

Traders Awaiting Hitler's Speech

Traders in the financial center backed time yesterday awaiting Hitler's speech next week to clear up uncertainty over the Czech situation and as a result there was little in the news to encourage great activity. Domestic markets were firm on the small volume.

Index-trials in Dow-Jones averages closed at 129.27 up to 1.01; calls were off 0.25 to 27.41 and utilities closed 0.67 off at 19.25. Total transactions were 150,000 shares. Corporate bonds made little change and government bonds were irregular. In a final report of reorganization submitted the Board of Governors of the New York City Exchange yesterday was included a suggestion for change of rules to encourage greater volume of trading.

What was up 1.3 to 3.8 in Chicago, but was off 9 to 11 points in New York Rubber was up 6 to off one point. AAA announced increase in best sugar production this year and will make necessary 1939 average allotment to best growers.

A prospect of lower farm income has in recent months resulted in lower sales of farm machinery and a general downward revision in selling prices of farm factors and implements is seen for 1939. After last year's better farm prices, implement prices were advanced 4 per cent to 5 per cent.

An increase of 6 per cent in major engineering awards over July for August was reported for a total of $235,271,000 or 39 per cent above same month last year. Steel output for week of August 23 was at 41 per cent of capacity by the Dow-Jones compilation vs. 42 per cent previous week and 46 per cent two weeks ago. Youngstown district operations rose to 46 per cent.

On the labor front attempts to mediate demands of railroads for 15 per cent reduction failed completely Wednesday when unions would not accept arbitration. Railroads had accepted it in principle. Unions announced they would call for a strike vote. This will necessitate appointment of a fact-finding board by President Roosevelt.

Freight loadings established a new high for year on basis of figures from first 20 roads to report. Indications are 615,000 cars vs. 577,918 the previous week and the July 16 week high of 602,309.

President of D. L. & W. reported August business ran about July level.

Shoe exports for first seven months of year were 24 per cent larger and had 22.7 per cent greater value than like in 1937.

Among the companies reporting net income for six months to June 30 included:

Borden Co., $2,823,674, or 65c common share, vs. $2,853,085 or 65c like period 1937. Standard Gas & Electric $338,535 vs. $32,926,274 in 1937 period. Diamond Match Company $301,526 or 64c common share vs. $1,057,100 or 87c like period 1937. Kennecott Copper $3,238,985 of 76c vs. $2,675,950 common share in like period 1937. Standard Brands declared 12 1/2 cents dividend on common vs. payment of 15 cents three months ago. Hercules Powder authorized 25c common, unchanged from previous payment. American Power and Light $1,121,309 or 53c common vs. $1,251,309 or 53c for previous year. Loew's will probably report net equivalent of about $6 share on common for fiscal year ending yesterday vs. $8.17 share previous year.

Board Declines City Assistance

County help and funds sought by the city of Port Jervis to tide the municipality through the balance of its fiscal year were refused by the Orange county supervisors Tuesday as the board acted upon recommendations of its public welfare committee and an opinion by County Attorney P. V. D. Gott.

The county assistance was sought last month by Mayor Wendell E. Phillips, who told the supervisors that Port Jervis could not finance its home relief beyond August 1. He indicated then, when the county board referred the matter to a committee, that he would next seek help from the state department of social welfare.

ANCIENT CASTLES ABOUND IN FRANCE

Many Chateaux Leased by Wealthy Americans.

PARIS.—A "chateau census" just completed by the French government offers proof that France holds the world's record for ancient castles and palaces, both in quantity and quality. It boasts 761 chateaux, with or without fortifications, dating back to the days when knight-hood was in flower.

Of this number, 539 castles and 32 palaces are in a good state of preservation, while the others either have fallen or are falling into ruin. Not included in the unusual census are 13 fortified churches and one fortified cathedral, the latter the Cathedral of Palavas-les-Flots on the Mediterranean, a structure which has resisted time and tempest for 1,000 years and is now serving as a parish church. There is also a fortified mill at Nérac, Lot-et-Garonne, where Henry IV, when king of Navarre, used to hold his court before he ascended the French throne.

Touraine Richest in Type.

The touraine region, "Garden of France," is the richest in palaces and chateaux of regal type. Unlike the quantity of Burgundy castles built primarily for war in the days of armored knights, the Touraine castles were elegant residences for princes. Their narrow loopholes for defense gave place to wide windows, and their sentries could pace in magnificent terrace gardens.

One of the castles, that of Pierrefonds, was restored during the Second Empire and served for a while as a home for Napoleon III. Castles of the Dordogne region are all of ancient medieval type, having been built to receive and to give hard knocks. Many of them were built by the English in the days of Edward III and the Black Prince, and to travel in Dordogne is to wander back into ancient history when England and France were exchanging blows instead of bouquets.

Legends for Each Chateau.

Legends, ghost stories and varied folklore accompany each chateau, although it may not have been inhabited for centuries. Many of the old castles and fortresses have become the homes of wealthy Americans, Indian maharajas and retired business men of all nations. Ambassador William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, recently leased the Chateau Furin, not far from Paris, for a week-end home.

Blind and Deaf Girl, Age 6, Learns to Talk

EVANSTON, ILL.—Six-year-old Joan Higgins is laboriously learning to speak her forty-first word. The only reason that is new is because Joan is blind and deaf. Until a year ago, she could not talk. Now her vocabulary includes 40 words and she rapidly is learning more.

Abandoned by her parents when she was an infant, Joan was for four and one-half years a charge of Cook county hospital. Then a private home was found for her and for the past year and a half she has been a protégé of Prof. Robert Gault, Northwestern university psychologist, under whose painstaking speech training she at last is learning to use her voice.

A year ago, Joan spoke her first word, which was not "mama" but "go." Before that, she had expressed herself only with babyish squeals and grunts. Unable to hear a human voice or see the moving lips of another person, she could not sense speech differences or the use of her vocal organs.

Under Gault's supervision, and in a home with other children to play with and learn from—largely by sense of touch, Professor Gault thinks—she now knows the names of the things about her, can ask for her food, play with blocks, and is beginning to group her few words into simple, hesitant sentences.

Farmer 'Blue' for Years

Is Still Able to Smile

BATON ROUGE, LA.—Sidney Woods, farmer living near here, has been blue for the last seven years. His body lost its natural color after he took silver nitrate for a stomach ailment. During warm weather the blue tone is intensified by the heat.

Woods has become accustomed to his condition and even declined to take a treatment which might have restored him to normal. There was, however, a chance that instead of being successful, the treatment would have left him with several other colors.

His temperament is cheerful and he's used to being questioned about the change. Woods held a public position at the time of his illness, but quit because his new appearance frightened people.

Man Bites Cow to Get Quick Action

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—All the king's horses and all the king's men, assisted by a block and tackle, failed to get a cow out of San Diego river quicksand. Finally, Andy Gonzales had an idea. He bit the cow's tail. Bossy bawled, squirmed and shook herself right out of the quicksand.

Charged With Conspiracy

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 1 (AP)—Four men, one of whom Sheriff W. J. Barnett identified as an employee of the Tennessee Valley Authority, today were charged with conspiracy to destroy private property in connection with damage to lines of the Tennessee Electric Power Company.

About The Folks

Arthur Dutton of White River Junction, Vt., is visiting at the home of his brother, W. C. Dutton, of Limerman avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglas Rattray of New York city are spending several days visiting Mrs. Rattray's grandmother, Mrs. R. Beadle.

Mrs. Ernest Renna of 106 East Chester street is convalescing at her home after an eye operation performed at Kingston Hospital Monday.

Mrs. Bertha Rosenthal of New York city, manager of the former Colonial Hotel in this city, and her granddaughter, Mrs. Sidney Silverman, and great grandson, Gerry Silverman, also of New York city, have been spending several days with Mrs. J. A. Cohen of Abeel street.

Lapps Are Content With Own Religious Services

The Lapps derive solace and happiness from attending their own church services. They get to church as often as they can—four or five times a year. They go to the Swedish State church, too; they never miss Christmas and Easter services. They are baptized, confirmed, married, and buried in the state church.

However, they are given spiritual exaltation in their own church services, by their own preachers, the stern and severe followers of Lars Levi Laestadius. They attain a sublimation of the soul they seem unable to get elsewhere, writes Mason Warner, following an interview with an authority at Abisko, Lapland, Sweden, and published in the Chicago Tribune.

The services are always the same. The sermons are in the Finnish language. The preacher begins by telling the congregation how weak they are, how sinful, how utterly lost—their souls are past redemption. Rebuke and condemnation are piled on criticism of their actions and lives. To these are added promises or threats of terrible punishment.

This continues until the people are subdued, cowed, low in spirit—are so beaten down by the pastor's oratory that they are in a semi-swoon of doubt, terror, and fear. The almost trance-like state of consciousness of their unworthiness is known as Likuutuksin. Then comes the great moment. Absolution for sins is given by the preacher.

Great rejoicing ensues. They remain seated, but sway from side to side or throw their bodies forward and backward in an ecstasy of happiness. They do not dance—nor do they sing. They rejoice.

Either Laestadius or his immediate successors abolished singing. "Joika" is the Lapp's substitute for singing. It is not sustained melody, but it is musical, with intervals and disconnected notes.

Chinaware From Orient Opened New Color World

For years before china was introduced, the use of pewter and wooden utensils was general, but when china was brought in from the Orient by the sailing vessels in the East India trade it opened a new world of color. The bright decorations, ornate scenes of life, birds, flowers, the gay colors and beauty awakened the imagination and brought color to a world accustomed for generations to the dull, gray monotony of pewter and wood. It was not long before the homes of the wealthy were filled with oriental porcelains brought from the Far East, writes Alice R. Rollins in the Los Angeles Times.

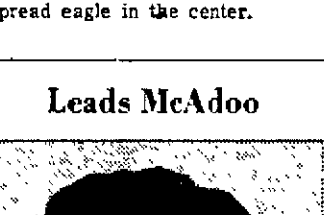

Old Canton was a household word for the blue and white china which for two centuries and more was exported from China to Europe and America. The term Old Canton included such patterns as the Nan-kin, which takes its name from the town from which it was exported and was so-called by the Chinese merchants who traded in it.

The Canton pattern followed the earlier Nankin, and later one of the designs used came to be known as the willow or island pattern. This was very popular in the United States early in the Nineteenth century, when great quantities were shipped here.

What is known as the Fitzhugh pattern, so named for a certain Englishman who first gave the order, is a conventionalized design of split pomegranates, spread butterflies, flowers and emblems in separate groups as a border with a medallion or oval monogram in the center. Later this design made up for the American trade included a spread eagle in the center.

On January 19, 1802, Francis Scott Key was married to Miss Mary Taylor Lloyd, daughter of Col. Edward Lloyd of Annapolis, by whom he had six sons and five daughters. He died January 11, 1843, of pleurisy, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Howard, Mount Vernon Place, Baltimore. His body was placed first in the Howard vault in St. Paul's cemetery, Baltimore, then transferred in 1866 to Mount Olivet cemetery, Frederick, where the United States government keeps a flag floating continually over the grave.

Leads McAdoo

Sheridan Downey, (above) Alherton, Calif., attorney who endorsed a $30-a-week old age pension plan, led Senator William G. McAdoo, Roosevelt-favored candidate, in the Democratic senatorial primary.

Age-Old Mistake Traced To Loose Use of a Word

That the whole of Homer's "Iliad" was once written so fine on parchment that it could be enclosed in a nut was believed by ancient writers. This extraordinary statement quoted from Cicero by Pliny, has puzzled many modern students, writes Dr. Henry A. Sanders in the Michigan Alumnus Quarterly Review.

"If one wished to write the 15,693 verses of the 'Iliad' on the thinnest paper and with all modern instruments, including our powerful magnifying glasses, so as to enclose it in a nutshell," Dr. Sanders says, "he would have to use a coconut and not any of the nuts known to ancient Italy." Pliny's error, he continues, lies in the fact that he accepted Cicero's statement without investigating it and that, in his opinion, the remarkable thing is the extreme smallness of the book, and not the mere fact that it was bound into a book, itself a remarkable feat in those early days of literature.

The whole misunderstanding, Dr. Sanders explains, hinges on the use of the Latin word "nux," which means both the tree and the nut, as we would say "of walnut" or "of chestnut." Pliny, he points out, takes the phrase, "bound in nut," to mean the actual nut, whereas Cicero meant the board covers of the volume, used to keep the parchment leaves from curling. Thus, he says, the remarkable thing to Cicero was not the size of the volume at all, but the fact that this was one of the first literary works to be bound in book form.

Wycliffe's Bible Had No Division of the Verses

In the first Bibles there was no division into verses. Wycliffe's Bible was of course all done by hand, as there were still no printing presses in his time, observe a writer in the Montreal Herald. Matthew, the third chapter, and verses one to six will serve as an illustration of his work. It is in the Old English script.

"In thilke dayes came Joon Baptiste prechynge in the desert of Jude, saying, Do ye penance: for the kyngdom of heuens shall neigh. Forsothe this is he of whom it is said by Isaye the prophete, A voice of cryinge in desert, Make ye redy the wayes of the Lord, make ye rightfull the pathes of hym. Forsothe that like Joon hadde cloth of the heeris of camelis and a girdill of skyn about his leendis; sothly his mete weren locustis and hony of the wode. Thanne Jerusalem wente out to hym, and al Jude, and al the cuntre aboute Jordan, and thei weren crystened of hym in Jordan, knowlechynge there synnes."

There were many copies made of Wycliffe's Bible. One is believed to have belonged to the historic figure, John of Gaunt.

In spite of the fact that a bill was brought into parliament forbidding the circulation of the Scriptures in England this same John of Gaunt fought for the right of the people, saying that the Word of God was their birthright. The Wycliffe Bible existed only in manuscript until 1850.

Key, Noted Song Writer, Was Native of Maryland

Francis Scott Key was born August 1, 1779, on the family estate, Terra Rubra, then in Frederick but now in Carroll county, Md. He was of English ancestry, his great-grandfather, Philip Key, having come to Maryland from England about the year 1720. Key was educated at St. John's college, Annapolis, and commenced the practice of law in Frederick city. Subsequently he removed to Washington, where he was for many years district attorney of the District of Columbia.

He wrote a number of songs, recounts a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, but is chiefly known for his lyric, "The Star Spangled Banner."

He was detained on board the British fleet during the bombardment of Fort Mifflin, near Baltimore, in the War of 1812, and while watching for the result of the attack, the idea of writing the poem "The Star Spangled Banner" occurred to him. It was partly written before he left the British ship. A collection of his poems was published in New York in 1857.

On January 19, 1802, Francis Scott Key was married to Miss Mary Taylor Lloyd, daughter of Col. Edward Lloyd of Annapolis, by whom he had six sons and five daughters. He died January 11, 1843, of pleurisy, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Howard, Mount Vernon Place, Baltimore. His body was placed first in the Howard vault in St. Paul's cemetery, Baltimore, then transferred in 1866 to Mount Olivet cemetery, Frederick, where the United States government keeps a flag floating continually over the grave.

SHANDAKEN

Shandaken, Sept. 1.—Mrs. A. G. Brown, Mrs. Isa Murray and Mrs. Ruth Briggs were Kingston visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wood spent Thursday with relatives in Great Barrington, Mass.

Board Declines City Assistance

County help and funds sought by the city of Port Jervis to tide the municipality through the balance of its fiscal year were refused by the Orange county supervisors Tuesday as the board acted upon recommendations of its public welfare committee and an opinion by County Attorney P. V. D. Gott.

The county assistance was sought last month by Mayor Wendell E. Phillips, who told the supervisors that Port Jervis could not finance its home relief beyond August 1. He indicated then, when the county board referred the matter to a committee, that he would next seek help from the state department of social welfare.

West Park Order Receives Legacy

New York, Aug. 31 (Special)—The Order of Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart at West Park will benefit in the estate of the late Eleanor McEwen Brosseau, whose property was appraised here today by the New York State Transfer Tax Department. A $9,000 mortgage on property at Esopus is reduced by $5,000 under the terms of Mrs. Brosseau's will.

Property left by the decedent was appraised today at $117,977 gross value, $109,428 net, the bulk consisting of stocks and bonds. Three brothers, Paul McEwen of Cheshire, Alfred and Walter McEwen, both of Tarrytown, inherit the bulk.

Wallkill Factory May Be Reopened

Reopening of the Wallkill Hat Manufacturing Company plant in Pine Bush loomed today as the result of an order signed by Bankruptcy Referee W. J. Miller of this city directing creditors of the bankrupt firm to show cause on September 14 why the plant and equipment should not be sold to Joseph E. Rosen of New York.

Rosen's plan for reopening the plant, under which he would pay the trustees $2,000 and assume all liabilities of the defunct firm, has been approved by the trustees. The plan provides for the issuance of $50,000 worth of new bonds in exchange for bonds now outstanding.

Area of Sahara Desert

The Sahara desert has an area of approximately 3,500,000 square miles. A portion was under water at one time, most likely in the Cretaceous period, but some of the surface was later elevated so that water remained only in some lakes near the coast of the Mediterranean. The belief in the marine origin of its vast quantity of sand has been supplanted by the theory that rock and soil disintegration occurred during the great ice age, at which time the desert lay in a warm, moist climate. The recession of the ice brought about changed meteorological conditions which caused the winds to become dry and the soil to lose its moisture. Without this moisture it was impossible for vegetation to survive and the entire area became barren.

Tribute to Ordinance of 1787

Daniel Webster, in 1830, paid his tribute to the ordinance of 1787, the code for the Northwest Territory: "We are accustomed to praise the law-givers of antiquity; we help to perpetuate the fame of Solon and Lycurgus; but I doubt whether one single law of any law-giver, ancient or modern, has produced effects of more distinct, marked and lasting character than the ordinance of 1787. We see its consequences at this moment, and we shall never cease to see them, perhaps, while the Ohio shall flow."

Cochrane With Sox. Maybe!
By Joe Kelly
Gus Steigerwald says the assembly call will sound soon for the Yellow Jacket gridders. Meetings will be held up at Nick Kasch's, as usual. Wonder of Nick still has that derby? We understand Jimmy Geoghan has a claim on North. Like a field day at Woodstock Sunday. The League's next speedway will have an array of champions on hand for the series of dashes. Looks like Mickey Cochrane may occupy a high front office post with the Boston Red Sox for next season. Marshall Goldberg is getting a lot of Pitt may shift him from the ball carrying position. The latest from Newport is that Helen Moody will not turn pro but concentrate on writing detective stories. Jack Schatzel came out from under his big straw hat this morning to tell this one. When Don Healey (the cop) played outfield for the old Swamp Angels he misjudged a high one on a sunny afternoon. When he stepped running the ball away his hat was pocket. Now, Jack, he swears it's true. (Clayton) He said he is planning to turn Joe Cronin back to Washington. 1940. Some New Englanders will tell you that Joe Cronin and his surprising finisher, Jack Schatzel, is a homecoming son from Boston. He was turned down when he applied for a job with the Boston Red Sox. He is a homecoming son. He is a homecoming son. He is a homecoming son.

Salem, Va., Sept. 1 (AP)—It's against the law for roosters to crow at night here. The city council, annoyed by a particularly raucous-roostered town, outlawed such crowing as a public nuisance. Owners of lawbreaking roosters are subject to a $25 fine and 10 days in jail.

Weeks' Case Before Court Tomorrow

The Floyd Weeks case, growing out of the death of his uncle,
Henry Weeks, back in November of 1935, will come before the
Special Term of Supreme Court
Friday when an order to show cause will be returnable before Justice Harry E. Scherick. The application is made by the prosecution on an order to show cause why the case should not be taken out of Supreme Court and sent back to County Court. This application for a transfer back to County Court is made by District
Attorney Glen H. Murray. Thomas
J. Plunkett appears for Weeks with Charles J. Flanagan of counsel.

The Weeks case has been before the courts several times and was moved to Supreme Court for trial after once being in County Court where the trial was once commenced but postponed because of illness of the court. Weeks is charged with having been responsible for the death of his uncle and it is charged that poison liquor was the cause of the death.
Weeks has been in jail at times unable to provide bail but at present is released under bail.

Name Sebastian of Greek Origin; Means 'Revered'

The name Sebastian, of Greek origin, means, "revered, venerated."
It is one of the great old names which appeal to the imagination and many of its bearers have been men of courage and daring and of great achievement, states Florence A.
Cowles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

St. Sebastian, Third century, is one of the most renowned of the Roman martyrs. Over his tomb on the Appian Way is one of the seven principal churches of Rome.

Sebastian Cabot (d. 1557), English navigator and cartographer, with his father, John, searched the American coast for the Northwest passage, which was the dream of those days. He was one of the first to notice the variation of the magnetic needle.

Sebastiano del Piombo (d. 1547),
Italian painter, worked with Michelangelo. "The Raising of Lazarus" being one of the great pictures the two friends painted together. Sebastian Brandt (d. 1521), German satirist and humanist, wrote the famous poem, "The Ship of Fools."
Sebastian Bourdon, Seventeenth century French painter of "The Descent from the Cross," was one of the 10 original members of the Academy of Painting.

Sebastian, Marquis of Pomal, Eighteenth century Portuguese
statesman, abolished the Inquisition and slavery, established schools and encouraged agriculture and commerce. Sebastian Etard (d. 1831), French musical instrument maker, is famous for improvements and inventions in connection with the piano and harp. He made one of the earliest pianos in France in 1776.

Sebastiana is the feminine form of Sebastian and has the same meaning. It is a dignified and beautiful name but is uncommon.

Stripes of Barber Pole

Recall Early Surgeons

The barber pole with spiral stripes is a relic of the days when barbers were also surgeons. In the London barbers were incorporated in 1461, they were the only persons practicing surgery in the city. During the reign of Henry VIII, parliament passed a law providing that barbers should confine themselves to minor operations such as bloodletting and drawing teeth, while surgeons were prohibited from "barbery or shaving." It was not until 1745, only 30 years before the outbreak of the American Revolution, that the barbers and surgeons of London were separated into distinct corporations.

The practice of surgery by barbers was not abolished in France,
Germany and other European countries until much later. The symbol of the barber-surgeons was a spirallystriped pole from which was suspended a brass basin with a semi-circular opening in the rim, notes a writer in the Indianapolis News.
The fillet around the pole indicated the bandage or ribbon around the arm in blood-letting, and the basin represented the vessel used to receive the blood. Barbers have retained in a modified form this ancient symbol of their profession. In the United States the brass basin is generally omitted from the barber pole, but it is common in England.

Views at Monday's Park Party

At top, a section of the crowd of about 4,000 that gathered to witness the city-wide community night, presented by Kingston Post, American Legion, Monday evening, in the amphitheatre at Hiasbrook Park.

The parkville bill (center) included the Catskill Mountaineers, who rendered several popular pieces as well as the cowboy songs for which they are well known.

Oulton's Krazy Kids (bottom), one of the evening's features, met with great approval. The sketch was in the form of a school room scene with Mr. Oulton as a German professor.

Kingston: The age-old triangle of a man and two women still finds novel and up-to-the-minute treatment in "Woman Against Woman." In this instance the man, Herbert Marshall, is a husband, and the women, Virginia Bruce and Mary Astor, are his second and first wives, respectively, with the first determined that his marriage to the second shall not be a success. The film presents a group of equally sparkling featured characterizations, among them Janet Beecher as Marshall's mother, Marjorie Rambeau as a senator's wife responsible for Marshall's first meeting with Miss Bruce, Juanita Quigley as the child who complicates the problems of the leading trio, and also Zeffie Tilbury, Sarah Padden, Betty Ross Clarke, Dorothy Christy, Morgan Wallace and Joseph Crossman. Also "Mr. Champ," featuring Johnny Davis. Preview.

Broadway: "Give Me a Sailor," a comedy of nautical life with Martha Raye, Bob Hope, Betty Grable and Jack Whiting heading a cast of favorites. Martha is the family drudge who wins a million dollar legs contest and proceeds to set the entire navy on its ear. Bob Hope will be seen as the blundering sailor lad who tries to engineer his brother's marriage to love with her himself. Jack Whiting, the popular star of the Broadway musical comedy stage, who has been seen recently in "Honey for What," has the role of a young naval officer who finds it hard to make up his mind between two sisters.

Orpheum: "You and Me," the story of an ex-convict, George Raft, who married Sylvia Sydney, a paroled girl, who hides the secret from him. Although he awakens to his real self in the pleading arms of the girl he loves, Raft, as Joe Dennis, turns against her when he finds out. He goes back to his old life of crime, but is rescued by his wife. In the supporting cast are Barton MacLane, George E. Stone and Harry Carey.

Kingston: "Rocket Busters," a story of the underworld, starring Humphrey Bogart, George Brent and Gloria Dickson. Broadway: Same and preview of "Letter of Introduction," which replaces "Spawns of the North." Orpheum: "Riders of Dawn" and "Crime School," with a brilliant cast headed by that effective aggregation of youthful actors who became famous as the "Dead End" boys, Humphrey Bogart and a talented newcomer to the screen named Gale Page. All typical products of the New York slums, after they have been "sent up" for petty crimes, and shows by how narrow a margin they are saved from becoming real, graduate criminals.

The first comprehensive study of cost of living in the United States was made by the bureau of labor in 1890.

Sales Gain Noted By Local Dealer

AL REINA

"My sales are 30 per cent ahead," says Al Reina, "is the heading over a large double page advertisement for the General Electric Company appearing in the current issue of Electrical Merchandising, a trade publication of electrical appliance dealers, with a nation wide circulation."

Al Reina, or as his business is known, M. Reina, is the local dealer for General Electric appliances and his selection by the General Electric Co. as the subject of a two-page advertisement, speaks volumes for Mr. Reina's ability.

and, as Mr. Reina says, "For the quality of the products I handle, and consistent advertising in The Kingston Freeman." It is also an encouraging note in the many pessimistic criticisms that are often heard about business conditions in Kingston and surrounding county.

The ad, which features a picture of Mr. Reina, a picture of his home, and a picture of the model G. E. kitchen of Mrs. Ruth Rich of Lounsbury Place, tells the story of the growth of Reina's business from the time in 1935 when he took it over. In 1936 and 1937 he tripled his volume and this year, as the heading states, he is 30 per cent ahead of his 1937 business.

Lincoln, Neb. 6P—Have you had your salt today? Lincoln WPA workers get it in regular quantities from a water boy who hands out a spoonful with each cup of water. Project officials began the practice at the advice of physicians who noticed excessive perspiration had caused a weakened condition among a number of workers. Lincoln business firms also have adopted the plan of placing salt-tablets dispensing machines beside drinking fountains.
